WE NOMINATE

James Douglas Brown, nationally known economist and former Provost and Dean of the Faculty of Princeton University, who in his third year of "retirement" continues to move at what appears to be an ever-accelerating pace. This past summer Brown celebrated his 71st birthday with the publication of a major work, the well-received "Liberal University: An Institutional Analysis;" this week he is once again in the news with the appearance of "The Genesis of Social Security in America," an historical account of how a handful of individuals, including the author, was largely responsible for the initiation of the social insurance system 35 years ago.

This intriguing booklet, a publication of the University's Industrial Relations, which Brown headed for two decades, traces how an idea in the minds of a few deeply concerned individuals was hammered into legislation in the space of short months. Seldom in modern times has an idea become in a single generation such a pervasive and practical part of the way of life of a people. In the fall of 1934 even the term "social security" was unknown. In 1969 it provides over 2 billion dollars in cash benefits each month to over 25-million beneficiaries and underwrites hospital and medical services for almost every American over 65.

Brown achievements as an economist and gifted administrator have at times been overshadowed by his major role as one nation's leading defenders of the tradition of liberal education, particularly in an era of mounting, and often virulent dissent. "Democracy requires not merely the freedom to vote," he said, "but the ability to discuss freely, within a gracious climate of mutual respect, widely differing points of view, and to gain a working consensus of what is reasonable. Without countervailing tensions, the human body falls into a heap, to sleep, if not to die. Without countervailing tensions and ideas, a community decays from sheer inertia. It is the way in which tensions are resolved that tests the quality of a community, not their absence."

A member of the Princeton Class of 1919, who saw action in France with the World War I A.E.F., Brown joined the Princeton Faculty in 1921. Five years later he was named director of the University's then new Industrial Relations Section, the first of its kind in higher education. He quickly steadied it on its course, rounded up an endowment of more than $1-million and for three decades spearheaded a research program that brought him into contact with governmental agencies on all levels.

Chairman of the first Federal Advisory Council on Social Security, and a consultant to Washington ever since he was first tapped for public service by President Herbert Hoover in 1930, Brown in July, 1966, entering upon his final and 11st year as a member of the Faculty, became Princeton's first Provost. In this post, as President Robert F. Goheen's general deputy, he gave particular attention to the University's overall academic development and to coordination in the areas in which he had specialized for over 20 years — faculty and personnel administration, curriculum and general policy.

For his accomplishments as a creative and deeply concerned American; for his major role in the moulding of both national and Princeton institutions; and for his sharing with others a message "ever provocative in content and affirmative in spirit;" he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

MEET MAYOR CAWLEY
He's Ready to Meet You. Out at Western Electric on Election Day, some wag pasted a new sign on Robert Cawley's office door.

"The Honorable Robert Cawley," the door now reads. The title is much too starchy for the Borough's newly-elected mayor. Bob Cawley is an amiable and genial man, out going and friendly ("I like working with people... an engineer who talks about the 'nuts and bolts' of his new municipal job and is obviously eager to begin working with the machinery.

"In these next two months, before inauguration day on January 1, I want to educate myself in the nuts and bolts of this job. I expect to pick Henry Patterson's brains and find out from him the best way to start."

As a start, Mr. Cawley went with Borough Council Monday night for the regular session. He plans to confer soon with his re-elected counterpart, Mayor John D. Wallace of the Township.

"Part of the mayor's job is to extend out into the community," he feels, "and a lot is the internal job of running an efficient government and planning for its needs. It's right here that I'm going to value Charlie Cornforth (Councilman Cornforth, who is re-elected to a second term).

"Charlie makes you think through any financial problem... with him, you can be exactly what clear thinking prevails."

But Mr. Cornforth and Mayor-elect Cawley do not agree in one vital matter that is walking in the mayor's antler: middle-income housing.

Mr. Cornforth is on record as opposing the middle-income housing plans of Princeton Community Housing, Inc. Mayor-elect Cawley said, in a victory statement on election night, repeated for this interview, "I really want to see this project GO. And I have tremendous respect for Charlie Cornforth. I think we can work things out."

Outreach, Yes! The outreach into the community is something that bothers Bob Cawley.

"How do you reach people?" he exclaims. "You campaign and you meet a great many people and they're eager to express their ideas and opinions. But how do you get to them, after you're elected? You can't keep on doorbell ringing... but you look at Borough Council month after month, and who ever goes to those meetings? Nobody. Ex-

Cawley the Wine-Maker

Home made wine, brewed by the mayor-elect him self, is a staple in the Robert Cawley household.

"It comes from Canada," Mr. Cawley says, "about the consistency of concentrated orange juice that's been thinned. You just mix that concentrate with water, sugar and yeast, and you get a wonderful dry wine."

Chemical workings in the brew preclude a sweet wine. "Eventually it would just go to pure alcohol," Mr. Cawley explains.

Recipe? "Well, it's like baking a cake... you know exactly when it's done by experience, I guess."

"He makes a marvelous ruse wine," says Mrs. Cawley.

cept a representative of some group.

The new mayor has a smiling, unworried face, but his tawny eyes often wide with concern over this problem: "I like working with people, and I hope I can get them to tell me what's on their minds."

He smiles in recollection: "One message during the campaign I got loud and clear: 'we're worried about you because you're a new-comer. You've got to show us

After the November 4 victory, one old-time Republican worker called Mr. Cawley with a pointed reminder:

"This old-time Borough resident said to me, 'You know who elected you, don't you?' and then read off the results in the core districts - Three and Four and the older parts of Two" (around Chestnut, Patton, Aiken, Erdman, Harrison).

"I got that message, too. These are the stable old-timers, concerned about taxes, not enthusiastic about consolidation, but in favor of middle-income housing if they don't have to pay more taxes because of it."

Policy. "Consolidation? Well, unless somebody has more specific benefits than I've seen, it would be hard to sell the people of the Borough. That tax thing is so darned obvious. Maybe we can get some relief from the state. Two candidates who suggested that - Schluter and Weidel - were saying, maybe something might come of state aid..."

"Personally, I'm in favor of creeping consolidation. I've seen a new joint planning board with the Borough and Township is going to be a real plus in regional problem-solving."

Time Off. On non-Borough Hall days, Bob Cawley still expects to put in time at Western Electric. Oddly enough, the company has many mayors among its employees. So many, in fact, that Mr. Cawley was just interviewed for a company magazine story on mayors at WE.

At the Carter Road complex, the title is Assistant Director, Research Administration. The portfolio holds personnel, public relations, responsibility for the library of technical information available to the 2,000 WE engineer customers.

Mr. Cawley joined Western Electric's staff in 1946. He has been with the company's research facilities here for six years.

The assistant director is one of those rare individuals, an engineer (Lehigh University) who can write. He worked for some time on the staff of WE's engineering publication, and served as editor for four years.

In Princeton, he is chiefly known for his association with the budget committee of the United Fund and his work in organizing the Red Cross Bloodmobile Service that serves people who work with companies throughout the Princeton area.

"I feel all hot and bothered about the lack of blood banks," he begins, and launches into a detailed account of his efforts in organizing one of the Red Cross' most successful projects, The Red Cross' Bloodmobile Service.

"I've been asked him to join the board of directors. He's now in his second year as first vice-president."

"In the natural course of things, I'd be the next president, but the way it looks now..."

Family Life. Other activities include asking - if he can keep from breaking his leg before New Year's Day and my inauguration... and keeping up with a lively family.

June Cawley, wife of Bob and mother of four, is an actress whom Princeton audiences will remember from the Community Players' production of "Separate Tables."

Mrs. Cawley, tawny blonde like her husband, is now re-joining for a Princeton League play which will be taken around to Trenton schools.

ALUMNI ASK HARD LINE
—ACTION— Foul A hard line against campus disorder is the position taken by 82% of the Princeton University alumni who answered a questionnaire sent out this summer by ACTION, the controversial alumni group.

These 82% said that students who "advocate or take part in breaking civil or criminal laws on campus should be suspended or expelled."

Of those who replied, 79% believed that police should move in promptly unless the University cops "with 'rints or illegal seizures'."

Age played a part in these preferences, although the survey report states that "clear majorities in all class groups are on the same side of the fence."

Younger classes, however, tend to be less stern. IUVC was supported by a alumni in all age groups: 73% believe Princeton has an obligation to offer a Reserve Officers Training Corps Program.

Only about half of those who replied said they hoped a daughter would go to Princeton.

At a press conference held Monday in Trenton, Jere Patterson of the class of 1938, chairman of ACTION, said "Let's be frank; girls are being sent to Princeton less to educate them than to pacify, placate and amuse the boys who are now there."

Older graduates were generally critical of the University's admissions policies. Critics charge that the University discriminates against prep school students and the sons of Princeton alumni, in favor of minority groups.

ACTION is an acronym for Alumni Committee to Involve Ourselves Now. It was formed last spring by alumni who disapproved such policies as the admission of women to Princeton, the dropping of R OTC and the relaxing of dormitory rules.

The graduates were "overwhelmingly opposed" to such curriculum changes as Afro American studies directed and taught only by Negroes or the abolition of exams and grades.

Two weeks ago, University President Robert F. Goheen was given a copy of the survey's report. In a statement on October 24, President Goheen attacked the credibility of the survey, charging that "the value is limited by the phraseology of a number of key questions." He cited the use of words such as "turbulent," "incite" or "manipulate."

He also said "the survey must be judged for what it is: not an exploration of opinion made from an unbiased standpoint, but rather an attempt to measure what proportion of Princeton alumni may share the particular concerns represented by the ACTION organization."

The Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, which conducted the $6,000 survey, issued the following statement in the light of Dr. Goheen's criticism:

"Using the Princeton Alumni Directory, ORC mailed questionnaires to 3,500 names selected on a random basis from class rosters of the years 1893 through 1958. The interview period was the last week of August and the first week of September, 1969. Findings are based on the responses in the 1,120 questionnaires received by the cut-off date."

"In addition to the mail survey, ORC interviews were conducted by telephone with a cross-section of the alumni who had not returned questionnaires, using ten test questions, to determine whether there were statistically significant differences between mail respondents and non-respondents."

"In no case did mail and telephone responders differ enough to place them on opposite sides of an issue."

PROTEST MADE AT IDA
SDS Demonstrates Wednesday. Some 60 members of the Students for a Democratic Society were apparently successful Wednesday morning in barring employees of the Institute for Defense Analyses from entering the building off Prospect Avenue.

The protest was orderly — almost good-natured in character — but it had the effect of persuading a majority of the staff from reporting for work. Four members of the Borough Police Department, including Chief Peter J. McCrohan, were on hand to prevent violence but as of 9:15 a.m., all was peaceful.

Members of SDS spoke over a public address system against the concepts of the Institute, which is engaged in classified research work for the Defense Department. Some of them insisted that "we will keep coming back until we shut this place down permanently."

Princeton University's role in IDA activity is essentially passive. It leases to the Institute the land between Murray Place and Prospect on which the building stands.

The site has been a focal point for SDS demonstrations in the past. In October, 1967, 31 students staged a sit-in on the steps of the Institute and were later fined $50 each for their actions.

Last Spring, SDS members and supporters blocked the IDA entrance for three hours, but left after a minor fight or two with IDA employees. Police action did not follow on that occasion.

RECOUNT TO BE ASKED
In Close Election, Borough Democrats will ask the county for a recount of last week's close election results.

"We will ask for a recount," stated James Andrews, campaign manager for Democratic candidates Alice Male, who was defeated for mayor; Robert Hendry, who was re-elected to Council, and Martin P. Lombardo who lost by only two votes to Charles Cornforth. Mr. Hendry received 1,633 votes; Mr. Cornforth 1,632 and Mr. Lombardo 1,630.

Democrats are focusing on the absentee ballots, which are counted by hand and therefore are more subject to mis-count and which may have given Mr. Cornforth his victory.

Absentee ballots traditionally are heavier in the Republican column in Princeton. Mr. Cornforth received 72. Mr. Hendry received 37 and Mr. Lombardo 31.

Recounts cost $25 per district, which brings the Borough bill to $225. Whoever makes the recount request has to pay the bill if the count is found to be correct. If there is error, the county pays.

The Democrats have 10 days from Monday, November 10, to file the request formally with the Mercer County Board of Elections.

Activities scheduled for Thursday in the area, before the departure for Washington, include a 2 p.m. march in Trenton, beginning on Cooper Street in front of the Court House, ending with a rally in front of the offices of a prevention of "revolutionary theatre" in Trinity Church at 11

Off to the Moon! Er...to the Launching, Anyway

"I nominate my family to represent the American public at the next moon launching."

That's the gist of a telegram sent back in July to President Richard M. Nixon by Charles R. Schroth of 76 Hernton Road.

So guess what family has been invited to represent the American public at this Friday's Apollo 12 moon-launching?

"I sent the telegram to President Nixon a few days before the Apollo 11 moon shot," Mr. Schroth says. "I just figured I'd take a flyer and see what might happen. In my telegram, I said something to the effect that the moon-launch was going to be witnessed by a lot of dignitaries from foreign countries, so why not by a representative of the American people?" "And," he smiles, "I suggested the Schroth family as an appropriate choice."

In October, a NASA representative telephoned Mr. Schroth at his New York office. (He's sales manager for National Distillers and Chemical Corp.) "I thought he was kidding..." But NASA doesn't kid around. On October 9, Mr. Schroth received a letter assigning the Schroth car and family to a spot three miles from the launching pad, the "Parkway Viewing Site" at Cape Kennedy. A Traveling along will be Mr. Schroth, who teaches at Miss Milton's School, Charlie, who is taking time off from Western New England College in Springfield, Mass., and Marty, who is a sophomore at Princeton High.

The car is oiled and ready to roll, the bags are all packed, friends have moved into the house to keep an eye on it while the Schroths are gone, and the next stop is the moon.

Sen. Charles Goodell (R-N.Y.) will be one of the featured speakers before the assembly, which will consider resolutions on the war ranging from complete withdrawal to support of President Nixon's position. A committee has screened all resolutions submitted and will select five for debate at the assembly.

The resolutions agreed upon by the assembly will be taken to officials in Washington by a group of University alumni and students. Approximately 5,000-6,000 members of the University community — students, alumni, trustees, faculty, staff and employees, plus area residents, are expected to attend.

In a related matter, the Princeton-Yale football game, scheduled for 1:30 Saturday at Palmer Stadium, was labeled "irrelevant" by a few sportswriters of the moratorium and an attempt was made to have it postponed to another Saturday, introduced into the University Council by Adrian E. Langston and Professor Malcolm Diamond, the move was voted down by a wide margin.

MORGAN PICKETED

At Institute, "Mr. Morgan Are You Listening?" and "Must TSC Become Another Columbia?" were the signs of the times outside the Institute for Advanced Study Monday.

Minot C. Morgan Jr., general manager of the Institute was the man supposed to listen. The signs were carried by 20 students from Trenton State College.

Mr. Morgan, a trustee of TSC, supports TSC President Robert Heussler against demands from faculty and administration that he resign.

The students were members of a committee circulating petitions supporting professors and administrators who want President Heussler out. They were scheduled to meet with Mr. Morgan this week to discuss the situation in less feverish circumstances.

COUNCIL AGENDA

Liquor, etc. Borough Council moved its traditional second - Tuesday meeting to second - Wednesday this month because Tuesday was Veterans' Day.

For this Wednesday night's meeting, Council prepared an agenda including a couple of liquor license requests and two referrals from the Zoning Board.

The House of the Graduate College, a group of graduate students at Princeton University, has applied for a club liquor license. The group meets in rooms at the graduate college complex off Springfield Road.

Jeremiah Finch, secretary of the University, says the University doesn't oppose the application and indeed thinks the activities of the House are beneficial to the graduate students and to the community at large.

ent the request, but hold off on action until the December meeting. Mayor Henry S. Patterson points out that there are no clear-cut legal criteria for granting club liquor licenses. Council is concerned about the precedents involved.

In another liquor license case, Council is scheduled to introduce a resolution denying to Timothy J. Sheehan, a new license for 367 Nassau.

Zoning matters up for discussion include the Beatty house at 19 Vandewater, Leonard LaPica, 25 Vandewater, opposes granting a use variance so that the historic old house can be used for law offices. Mr. LaPica's lawyer asked, at the October Council meeting for postponement until November.

Council also placed on the agenda the use variance for 157 Witherspoon. The owner of the premises, Paul Harvey, wanted 60 percent retail use—40 percent residential use, but the zone allows no more than 40 percent business use.

POLICE TO LOSE POWERS

University police would be stripped of their appointments as Borough Special Police under proposals made this week by Borough Councilman Robert Hendry, who is Police Commissioner.

About 20 campus guards hold appointments as special officers, Mr. Hendry said. He added that some of them have permits, issued by Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan, to carry side arms.

In a letter to Chief McCrohan, Mr. Hendry said he was disturbed over the Borough's lack of control and supervision over all institutional police, particularly those employed by the University.

He pointed to the conflict of interest that can occur when there are incidents with students, on or off campus.

Specifically, Mr. Hendry revealed the complaint of a Borough resident that University police made uncomplimentary remarks and a sexual proposition to her as she was out for a walk in the early hours of the morning.

"I passed this information along to the University's Chief Security Officer but have received no satisfactory reply as to their investigation," Mr. Hendry stated.

Borough attorney Gordon Griffin says the University accused that the Borough about two years ago that University police be appointed under an old statute which is worded in a very general manner.

Chief McCrohan foresaw difficulties in acting under this statute, Mr. Griffin continues.

The chief's main concern has been that, in fact, he has no supervision or direction of the University police, even though the law imposes this responsibility on him when the need is designated Special Police by the Borough.

Furthermore, the chief points out that under the law, institutional police have jurisdiction throughout the Borough and he questions the relationship of an institutional police unit to municipal police, unless in a limited way.

Mr. Griffin told Mr. Hendry he has asked the state attorney general's office for an opinion on several occasions, but so far has not received one.

Mr. Hendry is also disturbed about procedures for appointing these Special Officers. Under the Borough's ordinance, Council is supposed to approve each individual officer, Mr. Hendry says, and he charges that this has not been done, at least recently.

Also, a recent court decision has held that a municipality with a paid police force is liable for property damage caused by riots, and Mr. Hendry says he will ask Borough's Council to discuss the potential problems involved in this decision.

THREE BOYS STEAL CAR

At 11:30 p.m., evidence that three boys are learning faster than ever was contained in the report last week of a stolen car in the Borough.

At 2:40 p.m. Friday morning, Austin Macauley of 188 N. Harrison Street called police to report that his car had been stolen from his drive and was heading toward the Shopping Center. Six minutes later, Ptl. Timothy Huizing and Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm stopped the car at Nassau and Tulane streets. Inside were three 13-year-old youths from Trenton.

Two were taken to the Trenton Youth Shelter for processing by juvenile authorities. The third was released to his parents.

ROOMER WANTS QUIET

Fires Rifle to Get It. James Carson was arrested by Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm Thursday night after he fired a rifle in the Borough in violation of a municipal ordinance.

Police said Carson discharged one round because he wanted it quiet in the rooming house where he lives at 181 Witherspoon Street. His rifle was confiscated and sent to the state police headquarters in West Trenton to be checked out. Other charges are possible pending the outcome of that investigation, police said.

JEWELRY STOLEN

From Christmas Boutique. A gold ring and two gold pins with a combined value of $30 were stolen last week from a Christmas Boutique display held at the Nassau Hotel.

The boutique was sponsored by the Princeton Hospital Ladies Auxiliary. Police said the stolen items were owned by a

POLICE ARREST THREE

Far Shoplifting. Two teenage girls and a 21-year-old youth were arrested by Borough Police Monday after they allegedly took a lady's electric shaver and home beauty salon kit and alarm clock from Marsh & Company, the drug store at 30 Nassau Street.

They are William Marshall, 21, 68 Clay Street; Linda Lockhart, 18, 291 Witherspoon St.; and Rebecca Gonde, 19, 211 Birch Avenue. The first two were charged with shoplifting.

prebooked with possession of a prescription drug without having the prescription.

The girls were released with a complaint summons. Marshall under $100 bail. All are scheduled to appear in Borough Court December 3.

According to police, Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt, while on foot patrol, saw the three enter Marsh's shortly before 8 p.m. and observed them shoplifting. When they walked out with the items, he arrested them.

Ptl. Lenhardt called for a patrol car and was assisted by Ptl. Charles Harris in making the arrests. Ptl. Lenhardt made all charges.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

In Lawrenceville. A car stolen from the corner of Clearview Avenue and Harrison Street between 7:45 and 8 p.m. Monday night was recovered 90 minutes later on a Lawrenceville side street by Lawrence Township police.

Police identified the owner as Rudolf Lehnert, 141 Adams Drive. The radiator and battery of Mr. Lehnert's 1965 car were found in the trunk of a second car in Lawrenceville. The theft is still being investigated by the Lawrence police and Detective Samuel Binacy of Princeton Township police.

News Of The THEATRES

"OF MICE AND MEN" — Steinbeck Play Next, California ranch life in the Depression years of the '30's is the scene for John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," next in McCarter's 1969-70 Drama Series.

The play will open in repertory this Friday at 8:30. Robert Blackburn is directing.

The role of Lennie, the gentle, retarded giant, will be played by John Lithgow in a quick change from his portrayal of Professor Higgins in "Pygmalion."

His protective friend George will be Richard Mathews, who played Doolittle in "Pygmalion." Donegan Smith, who was Freddie Eynsford-Hill in the Shaw comedy, will shift to the role of Curley, the overbearing son of the ranch boss. Holly Villaire will turn from Liza in "Pygmalion" to the role of Curley's wanton wife, Arthur Roberts, who was the sinister Goldberg in "The Birthday Party." He will become the quiet Slim, and Gordon Phillips, who was Pety the husband in "The Birthday Party," will be the pitiful Candy in "Of Mice and Men."

Ray Aranha, who has been touring south Jersey with the children's play "The Wizard of Baron Bolligervill" will make his McCarter debut as Crooks.

"ACCATONE" — In Film Series. Filmed in the Italian realist tradition of Rossellini and De Sica, "Accatone" describes the savagery, humor, tragedy and violence in the slum suburbs of Rome. The 1961 film will be shown at McCarter next Tuesday at 8, in McCarter's International Film Festival.

Pier Pasolini, who directed "Accatone," is best known in this country for "The Gospel According to St. Matthew" but it was "Accatone" that established him as a major European director.

The first film by the director of "The Gospel According to St. Matthew" which established him as a major talent. Savagery and innocence, violence and poverty, humor and tragedy are all part of his world — in this case the slum suburbs of Rome. COTTON BLUES
Hand Is Coming. A product of both the southern and the Chicago blues traditions, James Cotton is a man who knows his way around the world of blues.
The James Cotton Blues Band will come to Alexander Hall Saturday, November 22 at 8, as the last in McCarter Theatre's Fall Folk Specials. Tickets are on sale at McCarter.
Born in rural Mississippi the son of cotton pickers, young James listened avidly to the radio music of Sonny Boy Williamson, the blues harmonica player who had a show out of West Helena, Arkansas.
"I got it into my head that I was going to play with Sonny," Cotton recalls. He ran away at the age of nine, found Williamson and became a kind of mascot of the Williamson band. Occasionally he was allowed to play with the group. When he was 14, he took over the Williamson band. Later he played with Muddy Waters, remaining for 12 years. He formed his own organization in 1966.
TRIANGLE!
"Call a Spade a Shovel." Never before have six — count them, six — real girls been on stage with Triangle. Last year, they did let one in and this year's six is the inevitable result. Who can even predict 1970?
"Call a Spade a Shovel" is the name of Triangle's 81st annual production, scheduled to open at McCarter Theatre on Thursday, December 4, at 8:30. Tickets are now on sale at the box office.

There are also 11 men in the cast. Plus an onstage rock band, audio-visual effects and a set described as "geodesic."
The show, written entirely by Princeton University undergraduates, examines America with a come eye — the war, the education explosion, the moon landing, Woodstock.
Paul Barry has provided the professional direction and Jerry Friess the professional choreography.

SHAKESPEAREAN POETRY
At Westminster Playhouse, William Shakespeare's mastery of word and tone to create dramatic illumination will be emphasized in a special Princeton performance by the Kaleidoscope Players, New Mexico's state theater group, this Sunday at 7:30. The event will also include a composite act of various love scenes from Shakespeare's works.
The performance is open to the public free of charge. The Westminster Choir College Playhouse. Entitled "The Worlds of Shakespeare," it is a condensation aimed at presenting an intimate view of the whole range of Shakespeare's variety as a dramatist.

Divided into two acts, it will feature actors Ben Zeller and his wife, Barbara De Kins. A series of love scenes ranging from the pastoral romance of "As You Like It," to the jealousy and anguish of "Othello" will be presented in the first act. The second will dramatically illustrate the use of the English word and tone in the depiction of evil in "Macbeth," nonsense in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and the tragedy of "King Lear."

The small Kaleidoscope company was named the official New Mexico State theater group last March. Its members have toured all 50 states and Canada during the past nine years.

EXPERIENCED CAST SET
For Day School Drama, The Princeton Day School Drama Club will produce "Watch on the Rhine" by Lillian Hellman on November 21 and 22 at 8:30 p.m.

An experienced cast is led by Chris Reeve, who plays a male lead, has worked in summer repertory at Williamstown and Cambridge, Mass., and is a repertory member at McCarter Theatre. Becky Ramsey appeared in "Picnic" last year, along with Paula Zaltz and Barbara Miller.

Dore Levy sang and acted in "Little Mary Sunshine" along with Robert Norman, who had a lead role.

"Watch on the Rhine" will be directed by Herbert McAneny, a veteran of many past PDS productions. The stage manager is Fredi Cagan, who filled the same post for Trenton's Theatre-in-the-Park this summer. Other chairmen include Larry Rose, scenery; Lixette Mills, costumes; Bill Pomeroy, lights; Joan Lewis, properties; Leslie Gray, make-up; Arlene Opatul, house committee; Calvin Johnson, tickets; and Gil Farr, publicity. Feminist Players will produce Erskine Caldwell's 1933 shocker at the Reading Street Scout House this Friday and Saturday evenings.

The drama, adapted originally by Jack Kirkland, caused a sensation when it was first staged. For this 1969 performance, however, directress Barbara Eber feels that the shock value is less important. Instead, the play is a mirror to conditions of poverty that still exist in many poor areas of the country.

The cast includes Jim Hutchinson as Jeeves Lester, Cathy O'Connor as Ada, and Lynn May as Sister Bessie. Other cast members are Katherine Conte, Karen Miller, Randy Wimberg, Phil Tatler, Carolyn Coble, Conrad White Gordon, Loptson and Tom Peacock. Ray Howe is the producer.

The show will also be produced next week, November 21 and 22. All performances will start at 8:30.

Reservations for tickets at $2 may be made by calling 466-0301 or 737-2432. Tickets will also be sold at the box office before each performance.

GARDEN
Belle de Jour (Thurs. thru Sun.) is an off-beat plot: the story of an idle wife who becomes the star of the afternoon sessions at a brothel and still remains a dedicated wife to her husband.

Catherine Deneuve is the wife; Geraldine Page the madam, and Pierre Clementi the gangster who threatens blackmail. Jean Sorel appears as the surgeon-husband who eventually pays the highest price for the disaster that inevitably comes.

The film, in color, was directed by Luis Bunuel.

Hunger (Mon. thru. Wed.) is based upon the Nobel Prize-winning novel by Knut Hamson.

Swedish actor Per Oscarson gives a classic performance as the acutely starving young writer whose mind and body are on the verge of collapse. His pride, his hunger, his terror of pain are unforgettably touching.

The Princeton Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America will be joined by two other male groups in a program at the Chestnut Street Firehouse on Tuesday, November 25, at 8 p.m.

The 60-voice chapter from Livingston, known as "The Dapper Daps," will sing, as will "The Exclusives" of Wilmington, Del. The evening is designed to introduce barbershop harmony to potential male members.

The Princeton chapter will offer a variety of old and new favorites, and will guide the audience in harmonizing a number of familiar songs. Edward Ward, the chapter's music director, will explain the principles of barbershop harmonies.

The program is open to the public, with refreshments to be served at the end of the evening.

li, Judy Garland's daughter, in a role that might have been written for her, but wasn't. It was created by John Nicholas in his novel of the title, which Alvin Sargent has faithfully adapted to the screen.

Miss Minelli is Pookie Adams, a motherless small town girl brought up haphazardly by a traveling salesman father, who sends her off to college alone. A lonely girl who lies with the glibness of a con man, she meets a young man on the bus and sets out with every guile to bag him.

The youth, played by Wendell Burton, finds her tracking him down at his college, inviting him to dinner, luring him to a motel and at one point telling him she is pregnant.

It's a one character film, essentially, and Miss Minelli does extremely well. The campus scenes were taken at Hamilton College; the musical score is good.

GERARD SOUZAY SINGS

Baritone Gerard Souzay returned to McCarter Theatre Monday night for the first Series II concert of the 1968-70 season. The French baritone was in exceptional form throughout the evening, displaying some of the finest vocal artistry and musicianship that these ears have heard in many years.

Mr. Souzay's program included the "Cinq Melodies Populaires Grecques" (Five Popular Greek Melodies) by Maurice Ivaldi, five lieder by Franz Schubert, "Bei Dir" (With You), "Meeres Stille" (Calm Sea), "Der Schiffer" (The Boatman), "An Die Laute" (The Lute) and "Der Doppelgänger" (My Double). Also included were three short song cycles, the "Village Songs" by Pauline, the Prince's son premiere of Ned Rorem's "War Scenes" from Walt Whitman, and three songs from Berlioz's "Nuits d'été" (Summer Nights). Four songs by Faure rounded out the program, "Clair de lune", "Impromptu", "Le parfum imperissable" and "Toujours." Dalton Baldwin was at the piano.

Mr. Souzay is a performer of considerable talent and appears to be continually growing as an artist and musician. His voice is among the most pleasant in tone quality of the several baritones actively concertizing today who own international reputations.

What strikes this listener most is Mr. Souzay's ability to shape an entire song with a variety of sonorities and nuances. He has a great sense of line and his phrasing is breathtaking to behold because of his uncanny ability to execute the varying degrees of dynamic levels contained in the music he performs.

What is more, Mr. Souzay always seems to possess a reserve power to deliver stirring climaxes after long flowing soft passages. Breath control is the key here, and at this, Mr. Souzay is a master.

Flawless Diction. In the presentation of his recital, the artist left no doubt that he understands the musical meaning behind each style. His diction in every language represented was flawless.

The program, well chosen and on a very high level in all respects, demonstrated Mr. Souzay's complete artistry with respect to interpreting the music of contrasting composers: from the sensuousness of the Ravel to the tragic utterances of Schubert's "Der Doppelgänger," or in the witty Pauline Village Songs compared with the potent Whitman cycle of War songs by Ned Rorem, Mr. Souzay and his accompanist were always "on top" of the music, always secure in communicating the poetic and aural values these compositions express.

Mr. Baldwin, for his part, deserves equal acclaim, for his interpretations in partnership with Mr. Souzay were no less compelling, while always artistic and imaginative. His performances displayed a keen sensitivity to all the varied musical material offered, in many ways, this was a Dun recital of exquisite taste, refinement and elegance.

The one puzzling aspect to the evening's event was the response (or lack of response) by many in the audience. An artist of Mr. Souzay's calibre is surely entitled to at least three short encores.

He did manage to perform two, the "Drinking Song" from Ravel's "Don Quixote and Dolcinea," and one of the "Seven Spanish Popular Songs" by Manuel de Falla. As it was, Mr. Souzay was rewarded for his efforts by a mass exodus commencing barely after the last tones had diminished from the Ravel. At only 10:20 p.m., this concert-goer would like to know, why the rush?

SOPRANO TO APPEAR
In Westminster Recital, Miss Sadie Knight, soprano soloist, will present a concert Tuesday evening at 8, in the chapel of Westminster Choir College. The event is open to the public free of charge, and marks the beginning of the college's 1969-70 recital series.

Miss Knight has given concerts extensively in New York City and neighboring states, and has toured in the southern United States, Africa and Bermuda. She received her training in New York, and recently studied voices with Suzanne Sten. A New York Times review stated that she could "make her voice and sentiment meet at levels of lyrical eloquence that any singer would be proud to achieve."

BACH, BRAHMS RECITAL
By Westminster Senior, Virginia LeDoux of Westminster Choir College will present an organ recital Thursday afternoon in the Miller Chapel of Princeton Theological Seminary, beginning at 1:35 p.m.

A native of Oklahoma, Miss LeDoux has given several recitals in Tulsa, and she is currently the Choir Director and organist at Grace Lutheran Church in Phillipsburg, New Jersey.

IT'S NEW To Us

A DESIGN CENTER & Bernard Cooke & Associates
"This is truly a design center," Bernard Cooke says of the new headquarters that he and his associates have established out on State Road (Route 206.)

"This company is a new concept — not in the industry — but in this area. The nearest that has any resemblance is down in Baltimore where Chambers has an informationally known design center."

You'll see in the showrooms a remarkable series of settings — dramatic, sophisticated yet muted and tranquil — that speaks for the designers' ability to adapt to any style.

The concept and layout of the new building was a team project by Andrew Merzilio ("he's young, with a great flair") and Elizabeth James ("the most versatile designer that I have ever seen").

"The Associates" also include Helen Rinaldo, Kathleen Eleanor Bosler, all specialists in design. "We feel," Barney Cooke explains, "that a designer is also a decorator, but a decorator is not necessarily a designer."

In the showroom downstairs near a beautiful, horseshoe-shaped hunt table from Killinger, is an heirloom-type rug designed by Betty James. It's a thick, vari-textured rug with a subtle border of grape leaves that touches your memory of Roman mosaics.

As you enter, Andy Merzilio's open staircase catches your eye. It's a fascinating study in vertical and horizontal lines that seem to change in relationship at you more around it.

"We do things strictly from a design point of view," Barney Cooke says, "and we carry it through with our own workshops where we make draperies and slip covers, upholster and re-upholster furniture, and there is even a cabinetry shop."

Exploring. If you have a notion for a particular type of a sofa that will go half-way around the room or a ceiling-high cabinet for your special collections, or whatever you may need to a custom-made line, Cooke & Associates will submit designs to you and build it in their workshops.

You'll see samples of custom-designed rugs on the wall upstairs, and these are the "strike-offs" woven to show clients exactly how the rug will look when it is made. One of the main aspects of the company is carpet design. There are shelves full of samples of weaves and colors and materials.

In the showroom downstairs is a bordered, eight-sided rug that is the unifying element in the setting of two classic love seats by Baker and a central coffee table. It is the custom rug that pulls it together.

If you're interested in slipcovers or drapes, "You can go to New York and see Schumacher," Mr. Cooke continues, "but come to us and see Schumacher, John, Arthur H. Lee, Greiff, Stroleim & Romann, Sealmann and... he pauses for breath, "I would guess we have from 15,000 to 16,000 samples, all with color alterations — so we may have 50,000 or more samples!"

The Book of Wood. We saw nine or 10 books of grass cloth wallpapers, all beautiful weaves — and an unusual book of wood finishes, with wooden pages of Brazilian and Indian rosewood, Solomon Island walnut, African bubinga, teaks, ashes, and dramatic Macassar ebony from the East Indies — all very different and rare.

"We also have furniture lines not normally shown in this area," Mr. Cooke continues, pointing out in the showroom settings the famous "Barcelona" chair designed in stainless steel in 1929 by Mies van der Rohe. "It's a classic: everyone would like to own one but seldom gets around to paying $800 for it." The Barcelona is made by Knoll.

He pointed out several pieces of Prober furniture. "In fact, we re-designed a Harvey Prober chair for the cafeteria at Forrestal and it's now a standard in their line!"

You'll see the high style Bencon Hill furniture. And there's a flowing rocking chair by Stendig of Italy, using soft, brick red leather on a black leathered frame. In contrast, there are the custom and authentic reproduction pieces by Saybol and Cleland of Philadelphia.

In fact, there's a lot of variety, as varied as the clients who have turned to Bernard Cooke & Associates for design advice. They have done private homes in Princeton, at the shore, South Canaan, Long Island and New York City. They've just finished renovating the library, lounge and TV room at Quadrangle Club on Prospect Street, and are design consultants for Ogden Foods (Holiday House), Howard Johnson chain, Garden State Parkway and others.

Mr. Cooke, whose major function now is business manager and technical services, began in Princeton 13 years ago as the Home Furnishings Shop on Witherspoon Street. About three years ago, the company began evolving into Bernard Cooke & Associates. He's a native of Hightstown, married to a Princeton girl whose hobby is dried flower arrangements. You'll see them in the showroom. "We all go out into the fields, the whole family, and pick what I tell her are just weeds."

Mary's weeds are lovely.

MILLER MOVES IN
Towards Princeton. Out on State Road, next to Gregar Motors, is the new Miller Appliance and Service Co. store, a branch of Oliver Miller's ten-year headquarters in Belle Mead.

"We opened the new store to satisfy our Princeton customers," he'll tell you, and then say, fast as a wink, "We service everything we sell!" "We're authorized servicing agent for all of our products: Whirlpool, Hamilton, Norge, Kitchen Aid, RCA, Maytag, Hoover..."

Mr. Miller has been in the appliance business for 21 years. He doesn't carry General Electric products, but I am hit by the strike in that I am getting too many GE calls! "The newest line is the Hoover appliances. Hoover bought the Dominion firm not too long ago, and so in addition to the handy Hoover portable vacuums, you'll see a slick new Hoover steam iron, marvelous "slim line" electric toasters that will even toast Italian bread; electric knives, a broiler-baker-toaster in stainless steel and chrome, and a very attractive electric frying pan with a deep lid of copper."

The Hoover can openers come with knife sharpeners on the side or in the back. There's a hair dryer in a handy round tin case, and electric coffee pots, and on and on.

Miller Appliance has the new Whirlpool refrigerator-freezers that never need defrosting and automatically replace ice cubes. In fact, you can choose the size cube you want. Just push a button. The cubes are crescent shaped, by the way. "My wife talked me into one of these," Mr. Miller says manfully.

We were interested in the Whirler electric stoves with a self-cleaning oven, six dials and a timer. The washers and dryers are well-known, of course.

The first concert, Thursday, February 19, will feature Mr. McCoy, a distinguished opera and concert performer, and winner of the Marian Anderson Scholarship. He has established a reputation by his portrayal of Cavaradossi in "Tosca," and for the role of Belshazzar in M. Mozart's "Adulthood from the Scraglio."

FOLK-SINGING SET
Public Invited. Erik Darling, skilled banjo and guitar player and a former member of the Weavers and the Roof-top Singers, will give an informal concert Friday at 8:30 at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. CHAMBER SEASON OPENS Abramowitz Featured. The Friends of Music in Princeton will reopen their Friday chamber music series November 21 with a piano recital by David Abramowitz, a senior in the Music department of Princeton University.

The program will include works by Mozart, Chopin, Schubert, and two contemporary compositions, "Rhapsody for Piano" (1939) by Robert Pollack 2c, and "Bagatelle for Piano" (1969) by David Saperstein, Princeton, 1969.

Mr. Abramowitz has had 14 years of piano studies in New York and Princeton. He has made numerous public appearances in concert, and is currently studying with William Cheade. During his sophomore year, he organized the Princeton University Opera Theatre, which this year will produce Monteverdi's "L'Incoronazione di Poppea."

The chamber concert will be open to the public free of charge in the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies.

Igor Kippnis will appear Thursday, March 26. The son of Metropolitan Opera basso Alexander Kippnis, he is considered one of the world's great harpsichordists, in addition to his work as a music critic, writer and authority on Renaissance and Baroque styles. His early studies included work under the American composer Randall Thompson, and he later studied under Thurston Dart.

The last Chamber Orchestra concert is scheduled for Saturday, April 11, and will feature "The Paganini of the Violin," Walter Trampler. Mr. Trampler has appeared with many of the world's major symphony orchestras, although he established a firm reputation first in Europe before visiting the United States.

His playing has been praised by Belgium's Queen Elizabeth as having "a voice all its own." Mr. Trampler has been a featured artist at the Aspen, Marlboro, Spoleto, and Casals festivals, and has played at the White House. For his Princeton performance he will play both the viola and the viola d'amore.

The whirlpool front-loading dishwasher has a batch of push buttons and a reversible work top of maple. One of the dishwashers has six cycles: super wash, gentle wash, rinse hold, rinse-dry, china-crystal and short. And there's a food warmer up top beside the maple work board.

Miller Appliance also has four- and five-cycle clothes washers by Hamilton — ten times and a galaxy of push button controls for the right combination of water temperature, agitation and spin.

And the Hamilton dryers, which feature a sun lamp that manufactures ozone (fresh air) have a temperature control for every fabric from heavy work clothes to the new synthetics, and there's a signal tone that lets you know when the perm is done.
The RCA radios, stereo, and TV's are well advertised and this is only to say that, Miller has them — and they're very handsome.

Oliver Miller lives in Neshanic Station, in the very beautiful foothills of the Sourland Mountains. He's a past president of the Neshanic Lions Club, and president of the Foothill Bowling League, and a former chairman of the Hillsboro Heart Fund. He plays softball in the church league. His wife is a Girl Scout leader and a member of the Neshanic Garden Club. They have two girls, 13 and 11.

"But I don't think you ought to write about that. The important thing is that we stand back of everything we sell."

LAKE CARNEGIE'S SICK

And Dying. Lake Carnegie is sick, polluted and dying and one expert predicts that hydrogen sulfide from the putrid lake may one day turn white houses along the lake, black. Richard Thorsell, resource director for the Stony Brook Millstone Watersheds Association, told a recent meeting of scientists and community leaders at RCA that land-use practices in the 160-square-mile area that drains into Lake Carnegie are turning the lake into another Lake Erie.

Two killers are at work, Mr. Thorsell explains. One is sediment and the other is "nutrients," or to put it more boldly, sewage and run-off from fertilized farms.

Princeton University, whose lake it is, has become alarmed. The University's Department of Physical Plant estimates that, in the last 30 years, 1.4 million cubic yards of sediment have accumulated in the lake.

Floods of Soil. Most of it, says Mr. Thorsell, comes from poor land-use: road building, destruction of the flood plain, construction of houses in subdivisions. Soil washes in from the Stony Brook area draining Princeton Township, Lawrenceville, Hopewell and Pennington.

To stop the soil flow, the Watersheds Association, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and other public agencies, are building $1 million worth of lakes on the Stony Brook tributaries. The lakes will precipitate the silt and keep it from reaching Carnegie.

So far, seven lakes have been built, the newest being a 30-acre lake in Pennington on the 450-acre Stony Brook Park. One more lake is scheduled. Mr. Thorsell says the original program called for nine, but the last one had to be dropped for lack of funds.

And Sewage. From the other side, Lake Carnegie is "enriched" from the Upper Millstone area communities of Hightstown, Cranbury, Plainsboro, Grover's Mill and Princeton Junction.

"Rapid development has occurred in East Windsor Township," Mr. Thorsell points out, "and the expansion of wastewater treatment facilities has not kept pace with the rapid growth of the community."

Mr. Thorsell cites an ecological study of the lake prepared for Princeton University by the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia, which shows that the pollution load overtaxes the Upper Millstone so that water flows into Carnegie Lake, six miles down stream, in a polluted condition.

When "nutrients" — that is, fertilizer from sewage and farm run-off — pour into the lake, they cause rapid growth in plants and other organisms. Their eventual death and decay consume available oxygen in the water. This affects fish and the remaining plant life. Eventually this cycle, if it persists, can cause the death of Lake Carnegie as a "useful" body of water.

Get the Vacuum. "Ultimately, the University will have to solve the problem of cleaning Carnegie Lake," Mr. Thorsell warns.

Sediment and weeds will have to be removed, either by dredging with pumps, or draining the lake completely and bulldozing it out.

Rowing crews in their shells have found that oars become fouled in the tangle of weeds on the bottom of the lake. Sediment itself also is a problem in crew racing, Mr. Thorsell says.

"If present water conditions continue," he concludes, "and we have a long drought with hot weather, white houses along the lake could turn black as hydrogen sulfide from the septic lake changes white lead oxide in the paint, to black lead sulfide.

LANDMARK GUTTED BY EARLY-MORNING FIRE: This is the Senate Chamber of Whig Hall on the University campus, shortly after firemen from three departments had extinguished a roaring fire that burned for five hours Sunday. The 76-year old headquarters of the debating society is now a mere shell, its future undetermined. Whig was founded in 1765 as The Plain Dealing Society; among its charter members was James Madison. #### WHIG HALL GUTTED

By Sunday Morning Fire, A fire, believed to have been started by a discarded cigarette, gutted the inside of Princeton University's historic Whig Hall early Sunday morning.

Two days later, the only evidence of the blaze was a huge crane stationed outside methodically emptying the charred remains of the building into waiting trucks. The two long granite walls were intact and free of smoke stains. Key masonry turned to red and gold still grew on the wall facing its sister building, Clin Hall, but inside the devastation to the 76-year-old building was total.

Cost of the damage has not been established by university officials who have not decided what to do with the shell that remains. In 1961, the hall was remodelled at a cost of $200,000.

Lost in the fire was a valuable oil painting by Thomas Sully, 18th century American artist. Five other Sully paintings suffered smoke and fire damage but they can be restored, university officials said.

The fire was discovered a round 5:30 a.m. by three University precincts who smelled smoke. A general alarm was sounded at Borough police headquarters at 5:30 and by 7:30 fire companies from Princeton, Lawrenceville and Exeter Township had brought the fire under control. At its peak, flames 70 feet high were reported. There were no injuries.

After looting the building Mercer County Fire Marshal

John Dempster reported the blaze probably started in a first floor lounge. He attributed the cause to human carelessness. There was no sign of arson, he said.

Once started, the flames spread quickly through spaces within the walls and floors of the building. Although firemen played hoses on all four sides, they were unable to prevent the roof from giving way.

The Whig Clubhouse Society, with 600 members is the largest extra-curricular activity on campus. Its president, Sen. Christopher Lee, said he had left the hall about 2:30 Sunday morning while a group of students were playing cards inside.

UNIVERSITY ATTACKED

On Tax Basis. In a sharp attack on Princeton University's tax position in the Borough, Councilman Robert Hendry has proposed three solutions to prevent the inequities of taxation now allowed under the law.

Mr. Hendry released his proposals this week. They are contained in a letter to Chester Aps, chairman of the state's tax exempt study commission. Mr. Aps's group heard testimony earlier in the year from several persons and institutions, including Ricardo Morales, financial vice-president and treasurer of the University.

Mr. Hendry suggests:

(1) Full payments by the University in lieu of all taxes, for properties taken off the tax rolls. These are tax-paying properties which are no longer available at the University but they are converted them to a tax-exempt educational use.

(2) Payments to the municipality on all incomes that are now excluded from taxation in the case of Princeton University. Mr. Hendry estimates the amount to be $20 million.

(3) The addition of dormitories to the tax rolls.

The Commission bases its proposal on the University's removal from the tax rolls of "over $1 million in valuations," and the conversion of these properties to dormitories or other residential use. He also attacks the University "throughout not meeting its own student housing requirements, to allow students to live off campus and occupy already scarce housing in the residential community." He charges that the University as a trustee of Princeton Community Housing, Inc., actively supports construction of middle-income housing "in the hope that students and their families may occupy such a partment."

He says that the University

ty's decision to allow students to have cars, contributes to traffic congestion on streets that are already too crowded. Finally, he states that students who use drugs and students who "resort to violence to achieve their aims" cause the borough to spend tax dollars.

Mr. Hendry charges that "Princeton University maintains a sphere of influence in our town that ensures them representation without taxation; for example, both mayors of Princeton, Township and Borough, as well as many appointed officials, are Princeton University alumni."

"I believe we must face the reality that the roll the University plays behind the scene, as well as publicly, in the structure and control of this community's growth, completely a first, and an unprincipled and unscrupulous of the University."

Commenting on this portion of Mr. Hendry's letter, Borough Mayor Henry S. Patten said, "The charge that Mayor Wallace and I are an University influence because we are alumni is completely false. I rather dispute me that Mr. Hendry would say this after knowing and seeing the facts." Continued On Page 16 me from his three years on Council. The University is zealous — but it is a continuing struggle to make them more so, a continuing struggle to get them to pay more."

Mayor Patterson said that if dormitories were taxed, it would mean Seminary and Westminster Choir College dormitories, also, which could create severe financial hardship for these smaller institutions.

$7,829 IS STOLEN

From Holiday Inn. Two men, one armed with a sawed-off shotgun, held up the Holiday Inn on Route 1 early Monday morning and escaped with $7,829 in cash and checks.

Patrick Meninati, the manager, told State Police, that the robbers took $600 from a main office cash register. From a safe, they removed $1,829 in cash and $3,000 in checks.

Joseph Amodio was the clerk on duty when a man carrying a pool cue case walked in a few minutes after 2 a.m. According to Mr. Amodio, the man whipped out a shotgun from the case and ordered him into an office in the rear of the main office where he tied his hands and feet.

BOOK POWER! Hook 'em while they're young, is the motto of the Princeton Public Library, where Children's Book Week is being celebrated by the addition of a new paperback book stand containing 600 volumes and that's a lot of volume. Mrs. Betty Medley, children's librarian, visits with Mrs. Harrison Fraker (left) and young Alison Fraker.

Mr. Amodio told police that he had not seen the other man but he heard them talking.

THREE ARE FINED

For Speeding. Three Princeton area drivers were fined for speeding Monday in Borough Court.

Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. fined Martin Deamillis, 33, of Pennington Rocky Hill Road, $20; Joseph Steffan, 32, 37 Taylor Road, $18; and Howard Averbach, 41, of Kendall Park, $17.

Nicholas R. Cevera, 23, 483 A Washington Road, and Jerry Mendelson, 30, Kendall Park, each paid $12 for red light violations.

Last week in criminal court, Theodore O. Turner, 29, of Trenton, was sentenced to 60 days for trespassing on the University campus. He was also held for a pre-sentencing investigation on a second charge of attempting to steal a typewriter from a campus dormitory.

FOUR RANGED UP

In Intersection Crash. Four persons received an assortment of contusions and abrasions as a result of a two-car collision Friday at 7:49 p.m. at the intersection of Vandeventer and Wigwags. Anne D. Burns, 18, of Trenton, was charged with disregarding a stop sign on Van deventer by PII James Adams. A passenger in her car, Barbara Aggar, 16, of Trenton, was taken to Princeton Hospital in a patrol car where she was treated for cuts and a bruising of the left arm and released.

Frank L. Berry, 31, of Trenton, told police he tried to swerve to the left to avoid the crash but couldn't. He and two of his passengers, Daisy Tate, 25, of Trenton, and Jesse Denney, 32, 254 Witherspoon Street, were taken to the hospital by a passing motorist, treated for contusions and released.

This Car on 206. Mrs. Denyse E. Reed, 47, 26 Westcott Road, was treated at Princeton Hospital for a laceration and contusion of her forehead last week, after her car struck the rear of another on Route 206 at Terhune Road.

Her convertible hit another convertible driven by Nancy L. Hulbe, 19, of Kendall Park. The Hulbe car was stopped, waiting to turn left onto Terhune when it was struck. Miss Hulbe was treated the next day by her doctor for a sore neck.

[1] Frank Roccafranco made an charges. It was raining at the time of the mishap — 2:15 a.m. last Wednesday.

OPEN SWIMS PLANNED

For School Recess Days. The YMCA YWCA has scheduled an open swimming period on Wednesday afternoons through December 3, to coincide with the released time in the area public schools' program.

The supervised activity will be from 2:30 to 3:30 through November 25, and from 1:30 to 2:30 December 3. There are no age limits for participants. A reduced fee will be charged for the special program, and membership is not required for participation.

BOOKS FOR CHILDREN

NEW HOMES APPROVED
 In Township. "These are expensive lots — we don't want one encumbered with an easement," said attorney William Baggett, lately to the Township Planning Board Monday night as he pushed for final approval of his client's seven-lot luxury development off Van Dyke Road.

Tri-State Development Corp. Mr. Baggett's client, plans seven homes in the $100,000-$125,000 price range on land bought from Trinity Church (All Saints Chapel is right next door) and Mrs. Anne Stockton.

That easement is the plaintive request of the Mercer County Park Commission, which owns and operates Herrontown Woods, also right next door.

In fact, one of Tri-State's largest lots shares a property line with Herrontown Woods, and one of the Woods' trails winds its way right down the line.

James Sayen, Mercer County Parks Commissioner, told the Planning Board that the county only wants 50-100 feet of buffer land so that nature-lovers walking the trail won't have to look into somebody's swimming pool.

He also pointed out that whoever buys the house probably won't want trail-walkers gawking into his property. The county doesn't want any right-of-ways, or the right to plant trees. It just wants to be sure, Mr. Sayen assured the board, that a minimum of 50 feet would be guaranteed as woodland.

"That lot isn't in the Herrrontown Park area," snarled Mr. Baggett, "we have established that." He suggested that the county might even want to buy the strip and conceded that the county had condemnation rights, anyway. The board, uneasy over its position in the middle, granted Tri-State the final approval it wanted, and suggested that the county and Mr. Baggett get together.

Approval is contingent upon completion of a sewer lift station and underground utilities. Tri-State agreed some time ago to contribute $5,000 to ward operation of the lift station. That was a condition of the preliminary approval.

Underground utilities are only partially in, explained Charles Egger for Tri-State. Gas lines are snugly underground, but Public Service hasn't laid the electricity until Tri-State has the foundations in for the first house.

MOON, STARS TO STAR
In New University Series. Amateur astronomers can have a look through two free telescopes this Monday evening, when the Princeton University Observatory kicks off a new open-house series at its Peyton Hall headquarters on campus.

The first meeting should catch the imagination of a good segment of the public; it should also draw the attention of the moon of America's Apollo 12 spacecraft, commanded by the Princeton graduate, Pete Conrad.

Although no visual sighting of the moon is possible, observatory visitors Monday will be able to scan the lunar surface through a sharp telescope and learn a good deal during the 9 p.m. lecture.

The open house series, planned for eight Monday evenings through May 1970, will feature non-technical lectures by the faculty and students of the Department of Astrophysical Sciences. All the sessions will be from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m., and the general public is invited. Topics will include the stars, planets and phenomena of general interest.

Dates for the series after Monday are December 15, January 19, February 16, March 16, April 13, and May 11. Monthly timing allows good viewing of the lunar surface features during the moon's first quarter, according to the Observatory's assistant director, Dr. Richard Boush.

In addition, the moon is not so bright as to wash out fainter stars at these times, he added.

FIVE HOMES ON TOUR
For December 9 Benefit: Four country homes and one town house have been chosen for the annual Christmas in Princeton tour which benefits patients at the New Jersey Neurological Institute. Headquarters for the tour will be the Institute's Smalley Hall Auditorium, where the Christmas Christmas Boutique will be set up, and coffee and hot gingerbread will be served all day.

 sunlit garden room with white wicker furniture. Throw rugs, tapestries and pillows in the living room and den attest to Mrs. Dennison's skill with a needle. The dining room carries a beautiful original table and chairs, and colors bright and warm.

Mrs. and Mr. Alexander K. Buck will open their Georgian style country house which was designed by architect Hans Sander. The cool, peaceful atmosphere of the house is echoed in the chintz and antiques. A handsome American sideboard and oriental rugs in the dining room, hall and living room now a game room.

The third house is that of Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Petty II. Known as "Maple House," this is a romantic old farm house which retains as much as possible of its original charm. Shallow fireplaces, a front porch, a well-penned across the house, original wood beams, and a converted carriage house (now a game room) are among the interesting features of the house.

A country house built in 1960 for Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Saret combines medieval and modern architecture. A stone turret tower, a 400 pound oak portal, and upstairs library with fireplace are combined with modern features like the extensive use of the interpenetrate, and a dining room with an oak cabinet designed by Volker Heinz.

The fifth house selected is that of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Young, remodeled barn which is original structure as much as possible. It is furnished with English, American and Canadian antiques.

TAX INCENTIVES TOPIC

At Symposium Here, The Tax Institute of America, a national tax research organization with headquarters in New York, will hold a two-day symposium on "Tax Incentives" at the Princeton Inn, on November 20 and 21.

The Institute is offering a compact two-day schedule on current issues of great national interest. The topics to be discussed will be the general conceptual framework for evaluating tax incentives, and special analyses of federal tax incentives for natural resources, the investment tax credit, local property tax exemption, tax incentives and pollution, and tax incentives and urban blight, among others.

In announcing the symposium, Victor E. Ferrall, President of the Institute, said: "Because of the growing practice of proposing tax incentives for desired objectives of a diverse nature, the TIA Board of Directors believe that the Institute will render a gen-une public service by focusing attention on this topic and by having it discussed in depth by informed persons with different points of view."

Among the featured speakers are Herbert Sien, Member, Council of Economic Advisors, and author of "The Fiscal Revolution in America"; Mr. Ferrall, General Tax Attorney, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and President, Tax Institute of America; Stanley S. Surrey, Law School of Harvard Uni-

Mr. Pettit said in announcing the appointment: "Mr. Vetter brings to our organization a combination of youth and wide experience. His background includes some ten years experience in an investment field as a branch manager for an investment firm and, most recently, as the marketing director for a Philadelphia-based mutual fund.

Mr. Pettit pointed to the "continuing excellent performance" of the Knickerbocker funds over the past years, particularly during the unsettled stock market of the last 18 months. ### NEW PLANT OPENED

By Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. A new plant housing the medical electronics division of Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. was dedicated in Cranbury this week at a ceremony attended by employees, area dignitaries and representatives of professional and new publications.

Ralph S. Holmes, general manager of the division, discussed the objectives and plans of his division, which is dedicated to the development of new electronic instruments for the medical profession. He described a new blood pressure monitoring device which will be introduced early in 1970.

Situated on a 69-acre property along the New Jersey Turnpike, the firm has ample room of expansion of its present 65,000 square foot building. At the moment, there are more than 200 employees active in research, development, production and quality control. This number is expected to double in less than two years.

Dr. V. D. Mattia, president and chief executive officer of the firm, stressed the importance of the electronic approach to total health care. The advantages include the accurate, efficient monitoring of vital body functions; an aid in overcoming the growing shortage of trained medical manpower; and a significant strengthening of the physician's ability to diagnose and treat disease.

MAILBOX

Flashing Signals Hazardous. (School Board Questioned.)

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the letter that I have sent to Freeholder Charles Kovacs with copy to County Engineer Edward Mount:

Mrs. Kellogg and I are very familiar with the traffic problem at this intersection since we once lived at 210 Elm Road and still use Elm Road practically every day. We were delighted when the traffic light was installed (the best that our efforts produced were stop signs at all four corners of Roosevelt Road and Cleveland Lane) but were pessimistic about its effectiveness when we learned the decision to have full green/red operation only during the morning and afternoon rush hours with flashing amber/red at other times.

Our fears were justified by the accident (see enclosed clipping from Town Topics of November 1, 1969) that occurred on November 1, 1969, at 9:04 a.m. when the light was flashing and was caused by a driver on Cleveland Lane going thru' Elm Road without stopping on a flashing red light.

We feel that this type of accident will continue to happen with flashing signals just as it did with four stop signs. The flashing signals may possibly even worsen the situation because the drivers on Elm Road will have a false sense of security and be less cautious at this dangerous intersection. While the State is surely justified in wanting to keep traffic moving, it should have some concern for the resulting hazards. Maybe people shouldn't be in such a hurry.

We respectfully suggest that the full green/red operation be in effect continuously from the beginning of the morning rush hour thru' the end of the afternoon rush hour with flashing operation only from 6 p.m. to 7 a.m.

JOHN K. KELLOGG
210 Elm Road

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Board of Education of The Princeton Regional Schools:

GENE H. KELLER
Ridgeview Road
Vice Chairman, Concerned Citizens of the Princeton Area
The immediate concern of the group of tax paying citizens know as the CONCERNED CITIZENS OF THE PRINCETON AREA is whether you ever plan to take up formally the demands of the Wednesday Evening Group in an open School Board Meeting.

We are worried on this score because, although there has been no such action to date, Dr. McPherson stated at the September Board Meeting that some of the Wednesday Evening Group's demands were already being implemented.

"Under the circumstances," Dr. McPherson's statement raises the question, by whose authority is this being done? As the Superintendent has endorsed, in principle, all of the recommendations, we would be interested in knowing what parts are being implemented and by whom. Highly important, of course, is the additional cost.

"At the last Board Meeting, we were prepared to present our statement on Sensitivity Training," requested by the Board at the September Meeting around which the Wednesday Evening Group's demands essentially revolve.

Since no time was allotted for our presentation on the October agenda, we decided against presenting it at the end of the Meeting because people were starting to leave. Our preference, of course, is to present our statement, when it is officially on the agenda.

"It does not seem fair to us that some of the demands of the Wednesday Evening Group, with their emphasis on Sensitivity Training, are adopted gradually as time goes by. As we believe that this subject should be honestly examined in an open Meeting, we expect to present our position at the November Board Meeting."

"At the October Board Meeting, Dr. McPherson, in a burst of oratory, made a plea that all elements of our community should trust one another. Such a climate of trust, of course, can come about only when all concerned work at bringing it about."

Housing Is Subsidized.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
A recent communication in your columns alleged that the League of Women Voters mounted a telephone campaign against a candidate for Borough Council. The reason suggested was that he had expressed grave doubts on Moderate Income Housing when subsidized by the Borough taxpayers.

While I find it hard to believe that the League as an entity participated in such a procedure, some emotional individual may have done so. In any event this does point up the failure of many well-intentioned people to distinguish between being in favor of Moderate Income Housing as generally understood on the one hand, and questioning the vulnerable proposal of PCH to build such housing over the Borough's two most important parking yards with a very substantial Borough subsidy on the other.

It is time for the community

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your opinion of the maxi coat?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Mrs. Angelina Alonso, owner of Elle, 2 Chambers Street: I think they're great. They make a woman look elegant and chic. They are warm and at the same time girls can wear a mini-skirt underneath and show their long legs when they walk, which I think is very attractive. I'm all in favor. I buy them for my customers and they are selling beautifully. I hope they are here to stay.

Robert Connor, 59 College Road West, University Professor: I think they're great. They're very sensible, after all, for winter and you can wear a mini-skirt underneath. As far as not being able to see much, it isn't necessarily a permanent situation.

Nolly Schroder, 30 Jefferson Road, PHS junior: I like them. They keep you warm and they look nice. If I had enough money, I think I'd buy one.

Ronnie Lavine, 372 Dadds Lane, PHS junior: They're big, they're warm and I imagine they're fun to wear. If girls have to go around wearing a short skirt and no coat when it's cold, then I can sympathize with them completely.

Fraa Hanafin — Somerville high school student: If you've got really rotten legs they're okay. They look good on boys and Bolsheviks — not girls. Actually, I have one but they're too expensive.

Cookie Durst, Neshaime Station, high school student: They're all right. I have one but I don't wear it. When I got it I wanted it but... it looks all right on different occasions but not just for walking around.

Sam Morreall, Hamilton Township, salesman for Princeton Clothing Co.: I think they look nice on the girls — say from 11 to 18 years old, but not for anyone older.

Jerry Gilbert, 574 Rosedale Road, short order cook: They're all right except they say they cost too much. I heard around $90. My girl found a place where they cost about half that much and she is going to get one. Am I opposed? No. I think they're nice looking; they sort of fit with today's fashion.

Karen Wood, 35 Maple Street, PHS freshman: I like them because they keep my legs warm and they are kind of glamorous when you walk down the street. I may get one.

Pat Peters, Lawrenceville student at Stuart Country Day School: I like them because they make me look taller. I'm going to get one — I hope.

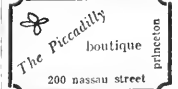

Rick Lehman, Lawrenceville high school sophomore: Beautiful! Because they're different.

Nanci Weissman, Trenton, junior at Princeton Day School: I think it's nice. I like it because it's warm and I feel like I'm wearing an evening gown every day. It's practical but it does get dirty when you walk up stairs — going down is okay but up is hard. You also trip a lot.

Elka Stern, Trenton, junior at Princeton Day School: I think it is a good idea and I like them except everyone is wearing them and it's become too much of a status symbol. It's no longer unique.

Neil Rosenthal, Trenton, PDS junior: I think it's a bout time the Maxi came into style. However if there were some way for the leg to be shown it would be greatly appreciated. On the other hand because it does leave so much to the imagination, I think it is more feminine.

Deborah Head, Rocky Hill, junior at Stuart Country Day School: I like them because they're warm and they also make me look taller. My father hasn't seen the one I have on yet.

GUIDANCE CENTER ADDED

The Grace Union United Fund, The United Community Fund and has provided a special fund for the reconstruction of the floor of the Walter Dean High School of the Mercer County Child Guidance Center, located at 253 Nassau Street.

Thomas B. Hartman

The gift of $1,736 has made it possible to provide suitable space for Activity Group Therapy needed to serve a great number of children in this area. After a long search for an adequate building for this use, it was decided that Whitney Center's third floor remodeled would best answer the problems involved. A donation from the Jaycees has helped to provide necessary furnishings and equipment. J. Robert Hillier Architects, redesigned the space to provide a group therapy room large enough to accommodate eight children at one session, an observation room or conference room, an office, a bathroom, and a second staircase to the floor. The rooms will be ready for use in approximately three weeks' time.

Dr. Hans J. Priester will be in charge of the Activity Group Therapy and the Group Therapy Training Program for interns.

THREE WAYS TO WASH

Here is a description of our three types of washing machines — exactly what each machine will do for you, and what it costs:

The new oversize washer — use this machine for your wash 'n wear ("no iron") garments. Set it for warm or cold water, and adjust the speed of agitation and spin to gentle. It will rinse slowly, gently, and turn out wrinkle-free clothes, ready to dry on hangers and wear.

Launder all synthetic fabrics in this machine.

The oversize washer is also for your regular washing, and you set the machine accordingly. You'll find that it holds more than the regular load. The cost is 35¢ a load.

The double-load washer — This is a highly efficient machine, used in commercial laundries. It holds twice the amount of clothes that a regular machine holds. It washes twice, rinses three times. It does a superior job of removing dirt. The double-load costs 50¢, an economy when you have a heavy laundry to do.

The regular washer — (30¢ per load) is suitable for a smaller wash, and it does a good job. But it is not a specialist, so the fast spin will crack your no-iron or synthetic fabrics, or set the wrinkles.

And a word about dryers — you can control the temperature of the dryers, which is very important to the long-life of your garments. Use the coolest setting for synthetics, "no iron" and woolen fabrics.

ART In Princeton

PRINT SHOW TO BENEFIT Graphics Workshop. A Graphics Show will be held November 20-29 at Gallery 100 on Nassau Street for the benefit of the Princeton Art Association's new Graphics Workshop and Atelier.

Thirteen New Jersey artists have donated prints for the show, and their works can be purchased for $40 or less. Proceeds will be used to purchase needed supplies for the Atelier.

The Graphics Atelier is being placed to work while paying off the new hourly rates for use of its etching press. In the near future, the Atelier will be used for classes in printmaking for both beginners and advanced students.

Participating artists are: Mrs. Judith Brodsky, a member of the faculty of the Tyler School of Fine Arts at Temple University; Yvonne Burk, a staff member of PAA, who has exhibited at the New Jersey State Museum, the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., the Newark and Jersey City Museums; Joseph Demaris, a printmaker for five years who is presently teaching printmaking at Trenton State College.

Also, Dorothea Greenbaum, who studied at the Art Students League in New York City and who has a distinguished career in art shows and awards; Ann Gress, a Smith College graduate, who spent 10 years as a commercial artist in New York City and has taught at the Princeton Graphics Workshop; Margaret K. Johnson, a member of Pratt Institute who is now teaching at the PAA and the Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

Others are Jacob Landau of Roosevelt, who studied at art schools in Philadelphia, Paris and New York, now teaching at Pratt; Russell Lewis, a graduate student at Rutgers who will soon receive his Master of Fine Arts in painting and printmaking and is currently teaching at Douglass College; Stefan Martin, recognized as one of the outstanding young wood engravers in America today, a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago; Mac Rockland, who has devoted herself almost exclusively to printmaking and etching, a graduate of the University of Minnesota and recently an exhibitor at the Hunterdon County Print Show.

Also, Jane Teller of Bucks County, who has published and written articles for magazines and has done the cover of the New York Times Magazine Section and whose art works are to be found in many private collections and museums in New Jersey; Marie Sturken, who has held a number of one-man shows in Princeton and who has studied with Gregorio Prestopino; and Jan Swearer, an art instructor in the South American who now teaches at the PAA and Princeton Adult School.

DEMONSTRATION SET
On Welding, Sculptural Forms. A lecture demonstration on "How Material and techniques Affect Sculptural Form" will be given next Wednesday evening, November 18, 8:15 at the Unitarian Church.

It is being presented by the Princeton Art Association. Admission is free.

Mrs. Margaret K. Johnson will lead the discussion, slides to illustrate how different welding techniques have affected sculptural forms. Early slides will demonstrate the different welding processes.

A member of the PAA faculty, Mrs. Johnson teaches at the Princeton Adult School and the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. She earned her art degree at Pratt Institute and a Masters of Design Degree at the University of Michigan.

Mr. Farley is a professional welder who learned his craft as a shipfitter in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He has assisted artists in welding their creative works as a side interest.

to look at the specific proposal for Middle Income Housing without emotion and without charging that anyone who questions the immediate proposal is "anti anti-housing" and a reactionary attempting to block all progress in this area. The project now before us has been presented as a program not requiring local tax subsidies in any form but rather one in which the subsidy is consist of very low interest money supplied by the State.

This procedure would automatically assume that the housing would not be located on the most expensive land in town. However, PCH assumes that the Borough will provide the land, namely the parking lots adjacent to the Public Library and Spring Street. No matter how the figures are submitted, the fact remains that the Borough is being asked to subsidize this housing.

I question the proposal that the Borough taxpayers be asked to build housing for those in the $15,000 income range when many of our home owners with far less income are desperately trying to hold onto their homes in the face of ever increasing taxes.

An equally important group which contributed enormously was the merchants and shopkeepers of Princeton. Many of them made outright contributions and all of them gave the buying committee generous reductions on their purchases.

Bridges Well Built.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Last weekend's activities at Historic Drumtuck and at the YWCA on Avalon, Plain proved that truly people can be bridges between nations, races, and doctrines.

To celebrate YWCA World Fellowship Week and raise funds to meet the needs of women and girls in 76 foreign countries, the International Festival has become a cherished tradition of the Princeton YWCA. Under the theme "BRIDGES TO FRIENDSHIP," festival committees and workers have demonstrated for months that true fellowship begins right here at home.

The names of all those who helped make this year's International Festival a thing of beauty and success are far too many to be listed individually here. To all the faithful helpers as well as all the organizations, clubs, groups, schools, business people, performers, news media, and the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development for this wonderful cooperation, a most sincere Thank you!

PRIDE ... The Essential Ingredient

We speak of that certain pride, now so rare, which our forefathers have known as they beheld the fine and useful results of their creativity.

We at Cane Farm make and sell a number of products ... furniture in artfully simple, beautifully crafted early American re-creations (or made to your own specifications if you wish) ... carpeting and fabric proud in their vintage traditions. Even a restoration service is offered for the old pieces you treasure ... including the chairs that need caning and rushing.

All this we sell ... but the one commodity that has no price is the pride in our creativity ... for this is the essential ingredient in all we do. Yet this pride with which we cannot part can become both yours and ours ... as happens when people of like minds enjoy the re-creation of a magnificent heritage.

Miss Barbara Parsells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Parsells, 35 Princeton Avenue, created the art work in the advertising section of the Centenary College yearbook "Rock 69," which received a first class honor rating for the ninth consecutive year from the Associated College Press. The piece gave the yearbook 9330 points out of a possible 9800.

Two members of the Princeton University faculty and a staff member at Educational Testing Service will participate in the 1969 convention of the National Council of Teachers of English to be held in Washington, D. C., during Thanksgiving Week.

The Changing Face of Banking in the Princeton Area

Number Two Nassau Street — from a model made by G. Vinton Duffield

135 Years of progress

The world was a great deal different back in 1834 when leading citizens of Princeton joined together to found the first Princeton bank. They met then in the rooms of the old Nassau Inn. And having agreed to form a bank, they proceeded to secure investment capital and to find a place to do business.

The first home of the Princeton Bank was in a building at Number Two Nassau Street, still standing, which was designed and built by famed Charles Steadman. There the bank opened for business. The day was Monday, October 13, 1834.

After forty-two years the Princeton Bank moved to larger quarters on the other side of Nassau Street in what was then the "University Hotel". The site is now occupied by University dining halls.

And again, in 1897, the Bank moved to still larger quarters in a completely new Bank-owned structure, solidly built in the Dutch style of architecture at 12 Nassau Street. Business was continued there until 1964. On Labor Day, 1964, the Bank moved to modern quarters in the new Palmer Square Building at 76 Nassau Street.

The 135 years the Princeton Bank has been serving the greater Princeton community, have been years of continued growth. Today, the face of banking

Meeting the needs of people

The 135 years the Princeton Bank has been serving the greater Princeton community, have been years of continued growth. Today, the face of banking is still changing. Your Princeton Bank has a completely new face, too, a modern physical plant expanded to four "Walk-In", full-service offices: — plus the unique downtown motor bank — plus two more offices approved but unopened.

Age alone is not enough, service to the community is of greatest importance. Your Princeton Bank continues to serve the complete banking needs of the ever expanding Princeton community — now and for another hundred and more years, we hope.

SPORTS In Princeton

WHO'S NO. 1?

Answer Due Shortly. During the next two weeks in Palmer Stadium, they will separate the men from the boys.

All three teams which will play there have a chance to win the Ivy title outright, although the likelihood that Yale can do more than earn a share of the 1969 crown is slim indeed. Somewhat more than incidentally, this is the first time in Ivy League history that Princeton, Dartmouth and Yale have all come into the final fortnight with a shot at the championship, and the fact that both the climactic games will be played here already has the town in a conversational uproar.

The Ellis will make their biennial appearance here Saturday at 1:30. A crowd upwards of 30,000 will watch the Tigers try to top them for the first time in three years and thereby set the stage for another winner-takes-all battle with Dartmouth.

The Weather Man Wore a Princeton Tie

Princeton's 53.20 run of Harvard at Cambridge Tuesday was aided in no small way by a meteorological phenomenon.

From Monday, November 3, through Sunday, November 9, more than four inches of rain fell in eastern Massachusetts and as of Friday night, the Boston area was threatening to break an all-time record for consecutive days without sunshine. Yet from 8 a.m. Saturday until dusk, the sun was shining almost continuously as the Tigers took full advantage of a dry ball and satisfactory field conditions to post a total offense of 498 yards.

Weatherman David Ludlum, a member of the Class of 1933 which held a reunion in Cambridge prior to the game, had this explanation:

"A trough of low pressure moved into New England before sunrise Saturday, and the wind went from east to southwest. That brought the clearing trend at just the right time, and made late Friday night forecasts of rain for at least another 36 hours inaccurate."

"By the time the game was over, the wind had already gone back to the east. It rained Saturday night and all day Sunday."

In addition to welcoming the spectacle of fall football played under bright blue skies, Mr. Ludlum had a further thought of appreciation. "The best our class has ever done to ride down the Charles River to the game," he said, "had no roof on it."

It is symbolic of the unpredictable course the Ivy League has followed that none of the three leaders was the pre-season choice to win. The favorite's role fell upon Harvard, now quite unlikely to top the 500 mark. Yale, moreover, was considered to be so ridden by tradition that it was assigned to second division in the annual poll among the sports, publicly directors of the eight Ivy colleges.

Elis a Major Surprise. When

Yale gave diplomats to 37 members of the Dowling-Hill corporation, which recorded two undefeated seasons in a row, and then lost its ranking quarterback for academic reasons, there were few outsiders. New Haven who gave the Blue much of a chance this year. They began by losing, and then lightly-regarded Connecticut but since then have dominated all opponents save Dartmouth.

The offensive strength comes from quarterback Joe Massey, whose 61 completions are tops in the Ivy League, and halfback Don Martin, a 9.8 100-yard man who obviously covers ground faster than most backs in the Ivy League, and fullback history. Massey has a good 33% completion mark, close to 100 yards and ten touch-downs to his credit.

Martin averages 4.2 yards per carry and has scored seven times. The Princeton secondary will have its hands full with this pair, as well as with two other backs, Bill Pimples and Bob Milligan, and two line receivers in ends Lew Roney and Rich Maher.

Defensively, Yale had figured to be strong again, although not the equal of this year's co-champions with Harvard. — Continued on Next Page yard. The Elis have generally done the job here, and when they held injury riddled Penn to 150 yards in the mud at Ex Haven Saturday, took over the top spot in team defense in the league standings.

Captain Andy Cue is a fine 200 lb. linebacker, while tackle Tom Neville, and Jim Gallagher and Ron Kell in the second line are other halfbacks lettermen with experience and ability. The balance the Elis have achieved while rebuilding is remarkable, and they figure to be tough and away the toughest opponent the Tigers have met so far this year.

POINT MINUTE PACE
In First Half at Harvard. Thirty one points in 27 minutes is sufficient to remove virtual any element of doubt over the outcome of a football

QUICK LOOK AT YALE
OFFENSE: Much better than an expected, double graduation of leading and Hill. Good balance with tight ends to combine game for Elis will pass often.
DEFENSE: Outplayed by Dartmouth but has been highly effective against all other Ivy League. Currently best in Ivy League in basis of free-gain statistics.
CHIEF ASSET: Ellis have good balance. Defensive ability is matched by effective threat posed by quarterback Joe Massey and halfback Don Martin.
CHIEF PROBLEM: Ability to put as many points on the board as high-scoring Tigers.
TYPE OF ATTACK: T with variety, and frequently the 1-balanced line.

game, and Princeton achieved that Saturday at Cambridge. Only once in the 93 year history of the series have the Tigers held a bigger margin after two periods — on their way to the 63-26 triumph in 1950, they led at the half, 33 to 6.

The Tigers scored the first four times they got the ball, marching 60 yards and 63 yards for touchdowns, booting a 29 yard field goal and then going 16 yards after recovering a fumble to make it 24-0. With that total showing on the board, the feeling of momentum was so great that Ellis Moore threw the first pass of his Princeton career from a fourth-and-11 situation after he had ostensibly been ready to kick. Pete Hauck broke into the ungarded Crimson secondary, with only the safetyman deep waiting for the punt, and the bomb gained 40 yards to the lozenge's 5. Four plays later, Scott MacBean dove over on a keeper from a foot away to make it 31-0 with 3:15 still left in the first half.

A 67 yard drive by Harvard gave the Crimson a touchdown with 28 seconds left. In the second half, a Princeton hump that eventually came close to clearing the bench out-scored Harvard, 14 to 13, to make it a 51-20 final.

Captain Ellis Moore got the Tigers' first three touchdowns, thereby setting what is in all likelihood a record for Harvard Stadium. He scored five there as a sophomore two years ago, and there is no one around who will claim that any other player has ever made eight TDs in two appearances there.

Sports in Princeton

While Moore had a fine day with his three scores, and Brian McCullough averaged 7.2 yards on ten carries before torn shoulder ligaments retired him for the season, it was again MacBean's aerial artistry that made the offensive show possible. He sorted out his receivers to perfection, and often they were so wide open that major gains were possible after the pass had been caught.

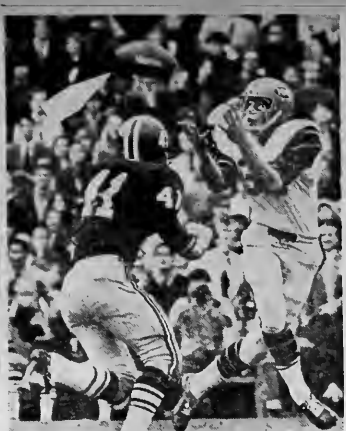

His assault on the record book continued with the surprising element the fact that he has been writing his name in it before the season is anywhere near complete. Not only has he already attempted and completed more passes than either Dave Alderice or Dick Kizmaier, but he has led the Tigers to new one season records for yards gained, passing and may well guide them to the highest percentage for accuracy in one year. The old mark is 597 in Kizmaier's senior year, and MacBean, Holberg, McCullough, Plum—yes—Ellis Moore at 1,000—have a current combined average of just over .600.

Moore, too, is within hailing distance of Cosmo Iacovazzi's scoring records. The former All-American made 14 touchdowns in one season, and 31 in three; the current Tiger captain has 10 this year and 26 in his career.

Note of Caution. The Tigers were credited by forthright John Yovislin, the Harvard coach—as good as a loser as you are likely to find—with having executed their plays to virtual perfection and ranking as one of the best Ivy teams of the past decade. In traditional fashion, he preferred not to name a winner between the Tigers and Dartmouth.

There is no denying the impressiveness of Princeton's play Saturday. The Orange and Black did it all—running, passing and defending in a manner about which coaches dream.

So outstanding was the job they did on Harvard halfback John Hornblower that he was actually farther away from the record he sought when the game was over than when it started. Hornblower needed 18 yards to gain the number three spot among Crimson backs who have run for the yardage. At the final whistle, he needed 23 yards having lost seven for his day's afternoon's work.

Still and all, it seems necessary to look at the Princeton record in the light cast by the opposition. Outside the league the Tigers have lost to Rutgers and Colgate.

Among the Ivies, the five teams they have played have taken part in 70 games (a number of them, of course, against each other.) But of those 70 which permit a total of 35 victories, the five Princeton opponents have won only 10. Columbia is 0-7, Brown is 1-6, Cornell, Harvard and Penn are all 3-4.

All of this is to say that on Saturday, for the first time this season since the Rutgers game, Princeton will face an opponent which has won more games than it has lost. Yale is 5-2 and Dartmouth 7-0, and it's when teams with such record yardage. At the final whistle, he needed 23 yards having lost seven for his day's afternoon's work.

FINAL GAME FOR PDS. Last Chance for First Win. With the prospect of a wireless season looming over its head, the Princeton Day School football team will travel into Pennsylvania on Friday to meet Germantown Friends school. Kickoff is 3 p.m.

The Panthers absorbed a 28-0 beating from Perkiomen last weekend, their seventh loss in as many games, but they will have a better opportunity to avoid their eighth if they play well against Germantown.

Their Friday opponent sports a 4-2 record, but victories have not come against strong competition. One of Germantown's losses was inflicted by George School, 42-14. George shut out PDS two weeks ago 22-0.

Coach Dan Barren looks for the game to follow the lines of earlier nip and tuck contests with Montclair, Pennington Prep, and Bryn Athyn. In each of these contests, the Blue and White eventually wound up on the short end of the score, mainly through its own errors. If PDS wants this game badly enough and can keep cool when it gets down near the Germantown goal line, it can finish this season with a victory.

For a few moments in the first period against Perkiomen Saturday, the Panthers appeared to be on their way to their first triumph and a big upset as well, but form prevailed when two early drives fizzled close to the goal line. In one, PDS reached Perkiomen's five-yard line, before it ran out of downs; in the second a round 15-0, it was halted further advance.

It took the visitors all of the first quarter to find themselves, but in the second they got their attack underway with two touchdowns on passes. In the third period, they added one more on a pass, and then a final six points on a touchdown with 57 seconds remaining in a fourth scoring pass.

Hampered by penalties, PDS never got as close as it had in the first period. The Panthers named Tony Dale as the top PDS player in the game, for his two interceptions and assists on nine tackles.

HUN CAN SEW IT UP. With Win Over George School. A victory over George School here Saturday will give Hun outright possession of the Penn-Jersey championship. Although Hun has not lost a game for three seasons—it is presently 5-0—it was forced to share the league title with

THE RAKOSKI RAMBLE was sweet music to Steinert fans and a discordant tune to followers of the Little Tigers. Here the 5-9, 165-lb. acrobat is off on a 38-yard ramble to the PHS 47 in the first period. Rakoski scored the first two of the Spartans' three TDs — his 10th and 11th of the season. (Staff Photo)

George School last year and with Perkinson in 1967 because of ties. With two games remaining, Hun is 3-0 in league play while George is 2-1-1. Kickoff is 2 p.m.

Hun based up for its important meeting with George School by pummeling Academy of New Church, 35-6, Friday at Bryn Athyn, Pa. It was Hun's third shutout in five games.

Hun scored twice in the first half and added three more in the second half. Jim Kopliner, Hun fullback, opened the scoring with a short plunge in the first quarter. Halfback Steve Peters got the second TD from a few yards out after a recovery of a home team fumble by Dirk Whitehead, Hun lineman.

Quarterback Mike Maguire had a hand in the next pair. He passed to end Rick Ziegler for one and then took a halfback pass from Peters for the other. Both plays covered about 35 yards. Jack Petrone's 39-yard interception of a New Church pass wound up the Red and Black scoring its highest outburst of the season.

"They all did a good job," commented Hun coach Dave Leeble. He used his second team freely in the second and fourth periods.

PHS FINALE SATURDAY

At Notre Dame, inability to stop Steinert's Joe Rakoski, and failure to generate any kind of a consistent attack added up to a 22-0 defeat last week for the Princeton High School football team.

That means the Little Tigers will travel to Notre Dame Saturday for their final game of the season with a 3-4 record. Notre Dame, off a 16-12 upset by Ewing in its last start, saw its record dip to 3-4 as well. Kickoff for this "must game" and a 500 season for the Little Tigers is 11 a.m.

The Irish attack centers around the passing of its four-quarterback Larry Zukowski. Notre Dame can score, but, much like PHS, it is victimized by an inconsistent defense. The Ewing loss was Notre Dame's third in a row.

Lossing is something Al Verbi, Notre Dame's new coach this year, is not accustomed to. At 1841, where he formerly coached, Verbi's record was just one long success story. So look for him to have the Irish up for Princeton.

The Little Tigers, on the other hand, have faithfully adhered to their formula of losing every odd-numbered game and winning every even-numbered one. Notre Dame is number eight.

In addition, PHS coach Dick Weed would like to atone for last year's unexpected 35-7 rout at the hands of an Irish team that had won only one game previously. Said Weed coach Walt Porter at the time, "Our boys were really up; it was a matter of regaining our self-respect." The same could be said of PHS on the eve of this year's contest.

Too Much Rakoski, Stein

let's sophomore quarterback Ken Perry was not much of a passer against PHS here Saturday. But then he didn't need to be: he had Joe Rakoski in his backfield.

Held in check by Trenton the week before, Rakoski, a candidate for all-state honors as was Princeton's Nick Arcaro last year, exploded for 230 yards rushing in 26 carries — a nine-yard gain per carry. He scored the Spartans' first two touchdowns — both in the second quarter — on runs of 12 and 17 yards. He also ran over both extra points to stake the Spartans to a 16-0 half-time lead.

For his part, PHS again played well in spurts but overall, its performance was a poor one. "Terrible," was the way Wood described it after the game. Mistakes and a large number of penalties — three personal fouls called against Eddie Vernon, PHS defensive back alone — hurt the Little Tigers.

PHS threatened twice. In the first period, Loujohn Rossi passed to Craig Singer for a first down on the Steinert 10. After three plays netted three yards, Rossi's fourth-down pass to fullback Gary Divialo was good but short of the goal line.

In the final period, PHS took over on downs on the Steinert 44 and aided by two passes from Rossi to Tim Taggart, moved the ball to the five, with four cracks to push it over.
The first play lost yardage, when no one was there to take the snapback but PHS got it back when Rossi passed again to Taggart to the two.

Divasio plunged for one yard,
On fourth down, Rich Oberman was thrown back to the four by the entire middle of the Spartan defensive line.

Bad Snap Opens Door. Steinert scored its first TD with a bad assist from PHS. Laurie Bloom, back to punt, bad to go over his head. When he landed on the turf again, he hesitated and decided to run.
He was thrown for no gain on the PHS 12.

Rakoski, although hit three times, fought his way over the goal to get all 12 in one carry.
He then ran the extra point over.

After PHS was unable to move, Walt Dimitruk's punt drove Steinert back to its own seven. Sticking completely on the ground, with Rakoski and fullback Steve Garland doing most of the lugging, Steinert marched 93 yards.

Rakoski got the final 17 with 1:22 to go in the half. Midway in the drive, one PHS player on the bench shouted as Rakoski picked up more yardage with second and third efforts.
"Why does it take six men to tackle one?"

Rakoski was stopped trying to run the point over but PHS was caught pulling his face mask. It didn't pay to give Rakoski a second chance that morning. He ran it over easily on his next effort.

Asked if Rakoski was the best runner PHS had faced this year, Wood replied, "By far. He can stop on a dime, he cuts well, and he uses his blockers well. We should have been taking that interference out."

The visitors picked up their third TD early in the third period. Dave O'Brien recovered a Spartan fumble on the PHS 37 but his teammates were unable to move it, in fact were driven back by another penalty. On a third and 25, Wood sent John Hodges in to quickekick. Standing only a couple of yards behind the line of scrimmage, Hodges kicked the ball into the leg of Peabody standing in front of him.
Tackle Gary Freshneck picked up the loose ball and ran it in for Steinert.

Never quite able to establish a running game, PHS relied mainly on the passing of Rossi to Taggart. Both were more than adequate, but each suffered lapses, too, at different times and it was this inability to mesh on the part of the losers that hurt them as much as Rakoski.

Tigers May Lose Petrie

Jeff Petrie reached in the pocket of a pool table for a cue ball, a fortnight ago and in the process may have removed Princeton's basketball team from contention in the Ivy race.

The motion ruptured a disc in his back, and the star 6-1 Tiger forward is currently in traction in a hospital near his home in Springfield, Pa. There is no way of estimating now what his chances are for playing basketball this season.

Petrie helped pace Princeton to the first 14-0 mark in Ivy history last winter, leading the individual scoring race with a 23.9 average. The Tigers open against NYU in Madison Square Garden December 4 and have a game with highly regarded Penn in the Palestra before Christmas.

In the Nassau League, Sal DeGelin of Tiger Garage was high with 246, 32 pins higher than the next best game, a 214 by Princeton Aviation's Jerry Perpetua. Jerry also had 195-197 for a 606 series.

Between 200 and 200 were Mark Jacob, Ed Donnan Jr. and Sr., Pat Migliazzo (265-204) Tom Sculerati, George Pietro, Al Rauch, Fred Goeke and Don Shinn. John Liston, sky of Hill Climbers fashioned a 306, well above his average. Princeton Aviation and First Aid are one-two in the standings with 42 and 40 points. Tied for third are 36 points: Ston Wine and Liquor and Grover Lumber, while Harrison AC and the S Local 380 are even at 34 all.

Kingston widened its lead to 30-1 over Rocky Hill in the Tri County Firemen's League. Three teams — No. 1, No. 3 and Griggstown — are tied for third at 32. Three more Plainsboro, Dutch Neck and Princeton Junction — all have 30.

Ed Lenore's 235 was the top single game; Tom Johnson's 202 the highest series. Tom, who rolls No. 3, had a final game of 210. Ed rolls for Rocky Hill. Al Wright and Dick Traeger had 226 and 224.

The Better Mousetrap

IF you want something more than just a stereo console, and something less than a houseful of electronic equipment, see the KLIH® Model Twenty-Four.

The Model Twenty-Four is a complete stereo music system that plays records, FM broadcasts, AM too if you wish, plus anything (such as a tape recorder) you care to plug into it. Instead of looking like a Victorian hope chest or an electrician's nightmarer, it comes in three compact and unobtrusive walnut cabinets that slip gracefully into a living room. It won't take up much of your valuable living space, and it doesn't take a pilot's license to operate.

But what sets it even further apart from other stereo equipment is the level of performance it delivers. It sounds—believe us—like twice the price. That's why it's the best-selling, most-talked-about stereo system on the market.

Ask anyone who owns KLIH stereo equipment about its performance and value. Then seek out the Model Twenty-Four and judge it critically for yourself.

You won't have trouble finding one in a store. Just follow that well-beaten path.

'TIS THE SEASON

... For Shoplifters. 'Tis the season now for shoplifters. It will be great carnivals here until Christmas.

"Shoplifting in this town is rampant," continued Borough Chief Peter J. McCrehan. "Princeton is so vulnerable... everybody trusts everybody. The merchants have got to start taking a hard line whether they want to or not. If they don't, they are going to get cleaned out."

To combat the expected invasion of professional and amateur shoplifters during the holiday season, the Chamber of Commerce, the merchants and Borough and Township police have started a fraud clinic and project entitled "Merchant Alert Plan."

Initially, police have conducted the fraud clinic for owners and employees of Princeton-area women's apparel shops, a favorite target of the shoplifter. "Later, after we get this moving, we hope to go to drug stores, liquor stores on down the line," said Lt. Michael Carnevale, who planned the program.

A first session, attended by

Merchants, Shoplifting and the Law

What right does a merchant have under the law when he observes a shoplifter at work? Too often he does nothing, afraid of being charged with false arrest. He needn't be.

"New Jersey has the greatest shoplifting law in the country," said Borough police Lt. Michael Carnevale, who has worked closely with the problem in Princeton. In 1962, a law was passed which, in plain words says if a merchant has reason to suspect that someone is shoplifting he may take that person into custody and detain him in a reasonable manner for a reasonable amount of time. Further, such action will not render the merchant criminally or civilly liable. Neither will a merchant be criminally or civilly liable for any arrests that may stem from his action.

"We have the tools, we have the law, it's just a matter of training people to be aware of what they may or may not do," Lt. Carnevale said.

apparel shop owners and employees was held Monday in Princeton at Borough Hall. A second is scheduled for Wednesday and a third on Thursday from 9 to 10 a.m. "We found the first session very well accepted," commented Lt. Carnevale.

"The information was very informative and the store owners and employees found it reassuring to know what they can and cannot do in keeping a shoplifting suspect in custody. (See box this page)."

Taking part in the clinics are Kestor Pierson, legal counsel for the Chamber of Commerce; Lt. Frederick Porter of the Township, who explains the different type frauds; Gerald Dollar, former State Police captain now in charge of security for the First National Bank, who discusses counterfeiting and bogus checks as related to the bank; and Lt. Carnevale who describes various techniques of the shoplifter.

Lt. Carnevale explained how the Merchant Alert Plan works. If an apparel merchant accepts a bad check, for example, he should call Borough headquarters where he will take down the pertinent information. The police would place four other notices which in turn would trigger four more, until all merchants were alerted with the description of the poster.

To aid the merchant, police have distributed posters which list the police numbers and a checklist of descriptive information that will go out on the alarm — height, weight, color of eyes and so forth of the check-passer; make, color and registration of his car. "When we make subsequent calls, all the information should be the same," Lt. Carnevale said.

The merchant alert program grew out of a similar fraud clinic for businessmen and merchants. Lt. Carnevale reported, held in early September at Whig Hall on the university campus, under the sponsorship of the First National Bank. As a result of that clinic, Everett Garretson, owner of Clayton's on Palmer Square, became interested and pushed for the development of "MAP".

Kendall of Princeton, President of Twin Rivers Holding Corporation, the developer of New Jersey's first Planned Unit Development, reported this week a sales figure of $3,125,000 since August 16, the official opening date of Twin Rivers. ## News Of The CHURCHES

IT'S THE 95TH YEAR
For St. Paul's School. "We do things and we don't, publish them," Sister Gabriella, principal of St. Paul's School, says of the school's accomplishments. "We just go our merry way."

St. Paul's School is 95 years old this fall, founded in 1871 by the Sisters of Mercy of North Plainfield when the motherhouse was in Princeton. The anniversary, typically, was unmarked.

"The school is doing very well," Sister Gabriella says of the Science Research Association achievement level in September. "It compares well with the national norms. There's an interest in learning, I find, and I think it's the community and the children's background."

Now In Fifth Year. Sister Gabriella, who is now in her fifth year as principal, heads a staff of nine sisters, 11 lay women and two laymen. "In most of our schools, it is almost one-to-one ratio between nuns and laymen," she notes. "There are 437 children enrolled this year, from kindergarten to eighth grade. The classes run from 14 to 30 pupils. This is an unusual proportion for a Catholic school, usually our classes run large."

The school is departmentalized from the fifth grade through eighth. There are no ungraded classrooms, although Sister Gabriella reports that several schools in the diocese are experimenting with this self-help, tutorial type of teaching. She infers that St. Paul's will not adopt this method, as it is proven elsewhere.

Varied Talents. Sister Gabriella, blue-eyed, with a touch of gray above her forehead, has an affectionate, yet firm regard for "the children." The school divides its curricula in the upper grades between those with a scholarly bent and those who love art, or sewing or mechanics - and couldn't care less about history and English. "We have to prepare them all," she says with solicitude for each child's future.

In her brief years at the school, a number of new programs have been introduced, although she shrugs off St. Paul's accomplishments with "You put things in . . ."

There are many opportunities made for the students' creative abilities: contests, Catholic Youth Organization art and essay contests and exhibits. "There are children here with great ability."

There are supplementary reading programs, a full time gym program, and the library, staffed by PTA volunteers, is now up to 4,000 books and is getting a little crowded.

Science Fair an Asset. The

"MANY OF THE THINGS WE DO," Sister Gabriella of St. Paul's School says, "we'll read later that someone has had this wonderful new idea - but it's not new to us. We do things at the school and we don't publicize them." Sister Gabriella is beginning her fourth year as principal of the school.

Science fair has proved a great teaching resource, as well as an economy, because the exhibits are used the next year as teaching adjuncts. The students are taken on a wide variety of trips, ranging from visiting the New Jersey Assembly to rock study at the Delaware Water Gap. Sister Yvonne, not to be confused by the school budget, has made attractive card dividers for the classes who put on earphones for work, read tapes and for eighth grade math. "She simply went and got packing boxes and painted them yellow - and they work very well!" Sister Gabriella laughs.

Every class, from the first grade up elects a class president, and all 17 of them attend the Student Council meetings. "We feel so often that the little ones are left out of so much. This is a good early training for them," Sister Gabriella comments.

Although it isn't generally known, the children do a lot of work for the Red Cross. They make things for the Woodbine Colony and Merwick at Christmas and Easter. The boys' choir always sings at Merwick at Christmastime. The children enjoy this," she smiles.

Monsignor Edward C. Hendry had the entire building painted this summer and wall-to-wall carpeting placed in the halls.

"It's much quieter," Sister Gabriella says with pleasure. "We don't all change classes at one time. The nuns have had quite an effect. The first couple of weeks of school, I found the children whispering!"

John Figueroa is president of the Student Council this year, assisting him are Michael Holcombe, vice-president; Dorrie Boccafuno, secretary; and Thomas Rook, treasurer. The PTA officers are Mrs.

Wesley, Forman, president; Mrs. Kurt Ehrenhim, first vice president; Mrs. Emil Gavachin, second vice-president; and Mrs. Anthony Sigillia, secretary. Mrs. Edward R. Dolfi is chairman of the room mothers for kindergarten through fourth grade; Mrs. Saverio Mangone heads the room mothers for grades five through eighth.

SEX ED APPROVED
 By Catholic Bishops. The Catholic Bishops of New Jersey have sanctioned "wisely-planned" sex education in Catholic schools according to a pastoral letter on family life read at masses on Sunday at St. Paul's Church.

The bishops cited the "great value" of such programs as marriage courses in high school, pre-cana instruction and family life conferences for married couples.

"On an even more basic level," their letter said, "we wish to make clear our position in the present controversy over sex education." Repeating the affirmation of the American Catholic Bishops' pastoral letter, they stressed the "value and necessity of wisely-planned education of children in human sexuality, adapted to the maturity and background of our young people."

"The basic purpose of such education is to help one achieve a fuller knowledge of himself as a person and as a Christian, and to gain a deeper appreciation of human love."

The bishops stressed the primary role of parents, urging them to "fulfill this role from the earliest years . . . by their own personal example, their home life and the natural bond that exists with their children. We appreciate the concern - and which parents express over any outside force usurping their parental role. Nevertheless, experience shows that many parents feel unable or are unwilling to provide adequate education in human sexuality."

This factor, plus "continuous overemphasis on false sexual concepts in our culture," has led the bishops to "recognize our obligation to assist the family in its efforts to provide sound sex education."

An Inter-Diocese Sex Education Committee has been established. It will develop programs of adult education, teacher training and Catholic school and Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes."

MRS PIKE TO SPEAK
 Sunday on Campus. Mrs. James A. Pike, filling a speaking engagement which had been scheduled here for her husband before his death in Israel this fall, will be heard Sunday, November 16, at 8 in McCosh 10 on the Princeton University campus in a program sponsored by the Princeton University Chapel.

Her topic will be "Is There Life After Death? An Exploration of Man's Ability to Transcend Time and Space both Now and Hereafter. The public is invited."

Mrs. Pike is president of the Bishop Pike Foundation of

ORGAN RECITALIST: E. Clouston Johnson, first vice president, will give an organ recital at 6 p.m. this Sunday on the new Thomas William Memorial organ at St. Ignace A.M.E. Church, Miss Sarah Thompson is guest soloist.

Santa Barbara, Calif., a non-profit educational organization established by her late husband, Bishop James A. Pike, to provide assistance to clergy and laymen who are in religious transition, either in terms of their personal faith or in relation to the institutional church. The foundation also publishes a monthly newsletter, "New Focus."

Mrs. Pike is also carrying on several of the research projects she and her husband had shared. She will complete her book on the historical Jesus, the research for which took them to Israel last September. She has written the story of that journey in a book called "Search," due to be published in February, giving her personal account of the meaning of their wilderness experience.

In 1968 she co-authored with Bishop Pike "The Other Side," an account of the Bishop's experience. — Continued on Next Page

YOU'LL THINK YOU'RE IN THE ADIRONDACKS when you step through sliding glass doors and out onto the broad deck with its view of woods and lake beyond. And, inside, there's the same feeling of mountain lodge in the richly paneled, high-ceilinged living room, with its well of glass facing the woods. The dining room opens to the deck (which has its own barbecue), as does the breakfast room; and there's a fine kitchen in between. On the main living floor, there are two or three children's bedrooms (one now used as a study) and bath, plus secluded master bedroom and bath. On a lower floor, opening to ground level, there are two more bedrooms and bath, big family room with second fireplace, work room, store room, and three-car garage. Nearly 3500 square feet of living space to all — $74,500

JUST OFF ROSEDALE ROAD, at Princeton's western edge. Spacious one-floor house with a country air, and so convenient to Princeton, Pennington, and Hopewell. Entrance hall leads to a 24-foot living room with fireplace and wide dining ell. Adjoining is a huge paneled family room with second fireplace, bookshelves, and built-ins. Kitchen has lots of work and cabinet space and breakfast area. Four bedrooms and two and one-half baths. Uniquely basement — garage arrangement would easily convert to playroom, work shop, or would store up to five cars. One and one-half acres of broad lawns and trees. $59,500

FOR THE HOUSE IN YOUR HEAD — Your choice of two two-acre building sites in western Princeton Township. Both with city water and sewer in long established neighborhoods. Priced at $21,500 and $35,000 respectively.

ITS LIKE LIVING IN A TREEHOUSE just to be in this airy, sunshot glass house perched on the brow of a western Township hill, not far from the Princeton Battlefield. Two living rooms, each with fireplace, study, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, and two baths. Cantilevered decks, walled terraces, beautiful grounds, amazing privacy. One of our all-time favorites. $89,500

IN THE WESTERN BOROUGH — Half-acre lot on a protected cul-de-sac. Mature shrubs and trees, including rhododendron, apple trees, etc. All utilities. $45,000

tion. Living room with fireplace, combination den and dining, powder room, kitchen with breakfast porch. Upstairs: 2 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms,

ONE STORY GEM . . . here is that rarity we are so often asked about by every alumnus who yearns to spend his retirement in Princeton — a fine home on one floor with large rooms, where all his grand furniture will fit as well as it does in his Manhattan co-op. Freshly painted and decorated, with super-clean wall-to-wall carpeting in most rooms, there is a master bedroom and bath at one end of the house, and another bedroom and bath at the other end, together with a large, paneled family room, which can be divided into good sized room and den or 2 bedrooms, by a folding door. Beautiful lot, with large trees and a secluded patio.
Two-zone heat. Adequate air-conditioning. $58,500

FLM RIDGE ROAD'S ELEGANT APPROACH . . . comes into full view as you turn the corner from Carter Road to see this large, beautiful, white frame one and a half story home. It sits perfectly on the beautifully landscaped acres and is about equidistant from Pennington, Princeton, Hopewell and Lawrenceville. The living and dining rooms are bright and airy, with a lovely garden terrace visible from both the study and living room. The kitchen is a woman's dream with lots and lots of room for family breakfasts and lunches. There are three huge bedrooms, two full baths, and two powder rooms, all with ceramic tile. This is country living at its finest. Talk to us about financing. $69,900

ROSTDALE ROAD'S RAMBLING RANCH . . . high on a hill, way back from the road on three lush acres . . . a beautifully landscaped with a circular drive. The rooms are very large . . . living room with fireplace (15' x 30'), separate dining room, spacious kitchen (17'9" x 14'), paneled study, a master bedroom 15' x 15', two other bedrooms, each 14' x 15', huge closets, built-in garage! Maid's room has been converted into an extra kitchen, but could easily be a family room (with wet bar) or fourth bedroom as there is a bath adjacent. There's also a floor-to-ceiling expansion area perfect for two-bedrooms and bath, when needed. $69,500

HAVE YOU SEEN GREENWAY TERRACE? It's the latest in one of Princeton's loveliest areas . . . BROOKSTONE! Right now there's a wonderful opportunity awaiting the lucky family looking for a brand new two-story Colonial on two acres. A true drive home, it is completely air-conditioned, and with every other extra imaginable, too! Five bedrooms, three and a half baths, two recreation rooms (on different levels), three fireplaces, outdoor deck, circular driveway, 2 bedrooms, garage (with room for a riding mower), easy-to-maintain aluminum siding, etc., etc. etc. Please come and see it for yourself. It's right at the stage where you can personally select all the finishing touches for that new home of satisfaction. $110,000

FURNISHED RENTAL
A magnificent contemporary home on five wooded acres in Princeton Township. This fine home provides ultra-modern living surrounded by a country-like atmosphere. Three large bedrooms, two full bathrooms, a study, separate dining room, living room with fireplace, screened sun deck, built-in Hi-Fi, indirect lighting. This house is immediately appealing because it is designed by means of large areas of glass, to admit the beautiful landscape to merge with the indoors.
